STREET PLAN PASSES: COUNCIL TOLD OAKLAND AVE. PAVEMENT IS BAD

Street improvements of the permanent type, needed for years in the business and adjacent districts, will be laid this year and the work will commence immediately, the council decided last night, and went on record as favoring the entire program as mapped out by Mayor Thomas E. Welsh, and the highway and finance committees. There was not a dissenting vote to the matter and it passed without a tremor, though thousands of dollars are involved and nearly the entire summer will be consumed on the big job.

Brick pavement was the type decided on. All material for thoroughfares was considered, but brick was chosen for the highway and finance committee and the council substantiated it.

It is the plan of the council to have all telephone and telegraph wires placed underground before the pavement is laid.

The improvement takes in practically every bad but much traveled street outside the business district, which lead to the main paved arteries. The list is as follows:

South River street; Pleasant to School.

Pleasant street—Court street bridge to Franklin.

West Franklin street; Milwaukee to Bluff.

Bluff Exchange; Milwaukee to Franklin.

West Milwaukee street; Academy to Five Points.

Center avenue; Five Points to Center street.

Racine street; Main street to bridge.

Franklin street; Franklin street to bridge.

Benefits and damages accruing to abutting property owners will be determined on immediately. The office of the city engineer is making specifications and bids will be called for within a very short while.

Oakland Avenue Failure.

Broadly intimated that the asphalt macadam pavement on Oakland avenue, laid two years ago this summer, was not holding up and that at the present time the macadam has been worn away, that many holes were being worn in the street, and that at the time the job was being completed the contractors went back and for a second time poured on as much as was contained in a cornucopia from D. W. Holmes to Mayor Walsh. It was read to the council.

Mr. Holmes held the belief that unless immediate attention was given the street it would be wholly ruined. He was for preserving the work even at the expense of abutting property owners, if the contractor could not be held responsible.

The letter was as follows:

"I wish to call your attention to the paving on Oakland avenue. The street was paved two or three years ago with what, I believe, they called asphalt macadam. The top dressing, which is supposed to be granite with asphalt, is being worn away in numerous places so that the under structure of the pavement is exposed. These holes are small now, but after every rain they hold water, and if the situation is allowed to continue it will only be a short time before the paving will commence to go to pieces."

Intimates Trouble.

"I believe that there was some trouble with the paving contractor on this job. At least I know that after the paving was apparently completed the contractor went over it again and poured more asphalt."

The road gets a heavy amount of traffic and it affords the easiest grade up the Third ward hill.

"I presume the contractor has his money long ago and is relieved of responsibility, but something ought to be done to preserve the road, even at the expense of abutting property, if it cannot be done otherwise. Yours truly, D. W. HOLMES."

Aldermen Grosin and Thoms, representatives from the Third ward, were advised by the council to look after the matter brought to attention by Mr. Holmes and report back their findings at the next meeting.

Alderman W. J. Hill of the Fourth ward moved for the installation of cement sidewalks, curbs and gutters on Western avenue, from Jackson to Franklin street, and on Franklin street from Western avenue to City street, and the resolution carried and bids for the installation of the work will be made immediately.

The purchasing committee, charged a week ago with an investigation of property on which will be built a city garage and storehouse for tools and equipment, reported that the Frank Kimball property at the rear of the city hall on Wall street, could be purchased for $600, payment to suit the city.

Alderman Emil Pautz of the Fourth ward reported that the old stone barn on the property was substantial and fully large enough to house the city motors and other big tools.

It was decided to purchase the property, the committee to arrange with Mr. Kimball as to payment.

Mayor Welsh was of the opinion that the cost should be spread over a period of three years.

Permission was granted W. R. Grayes to move a house from North Terrace street to Mineral Point avenue, and L. L. Cutts was permitted to move a structure on North Washington street.

Chairman Hill of the Park commission announced that the old fountain in the Court house park would soon be a flower bed and an electric fountain. The committee is keeping its plans in the dark for the present and will spring them as a surprise shortly on the waiting public.

The council, almost en masse, after the meeting, went down to Douglas hardware store to investigate the need of an electric light at the rear of the place. There was some discussion as to the city or Mr. Douglas putting it in.

DOG GONE! TOO BAD!!

Clinker Jeffris has passed away. Clinker was a valuable watch dog. He was the noted Morgan Kennels in New Jersey. He had been a pet in the Jeffris family for many years, at 206 South Jackson street.

Everyone in the neighborhood, especially the children, loved Clinker. Bob Jeffris buried him with much ceremony, in the yard of the Jeffris home.

WILSON STANDS SQUARELY FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS

PRESIDENT WILL NOT INTERFERE

WASHINGTON OFFICIALS TOLD THAT U. S. EXECUTIVE WON'T INTERFERE AWAIT OUTCOME OF DEADLOCK

Italian Premier is Absent When Peace Conference Get Together in Paris.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—Administration officials were advised in a confidential cablegram from Paris today that in the consideration of problems confronting the peace conference, such as Italy's Adriatic claims and the question of an alliance to protect France from future aggression, President Wilson would take no action which might in the slightest degree jeopardize the league of nations or conflict with its fundamental principles.

The message was a reply to a cablegram of inquiry regarding the president's attitude toward a secret alliance which, according to certain Paris newspapers, contemplated a special defensive pact to be entered into by France, Great Britain and the United States.

The outcome of the apparent deadlock over Italy's Adriatic claims is awaited in official quarters here with evident anxiety. The situation pictured in press dispatches is regarded as serious, and there was no message from Paris yesterday or today similar to those of last week reporting gratifying progress at the peace table.

The complete text of the revised covenant of the league of nations was received at the state department today by cable from Paris. Acting Secretary Polk has asked the president for directions as to publication of the document.

No instructions have been received, but it has been assumed here that the covenant would be made public upon delivery of the peace treaty to the Germans, and in accordance with the plan announced at Paris for giving publicity to the treaty.

Italian Premier Absent.

Paris, April 22.—Vittorio Orlando, the Italian premier, was absent this morning when deliberations were resumed at the Paris White House. President Wilson and Premier Lloyd-George and Clemenceau were present.

The president and the Japanese questions presented by Baron Makino and Viscount Chinda which were taken up when the deadlock over the Adriatic question was reached yesterday.

DIXIE BEAUTY

MISS ELIZABETH LEA. Miss Elizabeth Lea of Nashville, Tenn., is spending the spring season in Washington. Miss Lea is a sister of Col. Luke Lea, commanding the 114th field artillery. It was reported recently that Colonel Lea made an effort to capture the former Kaiser from his castle at Amerongen, Holland. Colonel Lea was formerly United States senator from Tennessee.

PREDICT CLOSURE OF GERMAN COAL MINES; STRIKERS ARE BLAMED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Berlin, April 22.—Following the recent decision of miners to depose the director of the Kling and Laura mines in Silesia, under a new arrangement by which the employees would determine with the employers who should be hired and who discharged, the mine owners have issued a statement refusing to depose the director and forecasting the speedy closure of the mines.

The statement says that each ton of coal produced costs seventeen marks instead of yielding a profit and that each ton of steel costs 230 marks. The statement says the owners have decided so that as many as possible might be employed. Strikes and higher wages, it is declared, have transformed former profits into losses.

A compilation showing the disorders in the Ruhr district is given. The Bochum mine company, it is said, "is struck to death" and "probably will never be reopened."

Silesia mine has been obliged to issue new funds in order to continue. The Deutsche Kaiser mine has lost 36,000,000 marks since the revolution in 1918 and is near ruin, it can last November and is near ruin, it can last November and is near ruin, it can last November and is near ruin.

The situation of the miners, it is asserted, has not been bettered by four Liberty motors of a total of 1600 horsepower and will carry sufficient gasoline to make a stop on a direct flight to Ireland unnecessary unless storms or strong head winds are encountered.

CENTER LAUNCHES VICTORY LOAN DRIVE

[By a Special Correspondent] Center, April 22.—The Victory loan drive was started off here at an enthusiastic meeting held at the district school No. 1, last evening. The meeting was well attended. The speakers, Rev. F. W. Wenzel and W. H. Dougherty gave home hitting speeches on patriotism and duty.

The actual work on the drive was started this morning by the committee of 20 composed of the following: Rev. F. W. Wenzel, William Greff, J. H. Fisher, Herman Benish, W. C. Miller, E. F. Wilkie, J. G. Smith, William Beyer, E. W. Snyder, Sen. Conway, George Brown, John Welsenberg, C. E. Hawk, J. K. Bemis, J. F. Roberts, Frank Benish, Eli Cravel, O. C. Bergh, O. A. Brown and C. H. Whitmore.

Cross Country Railroads Asked for Fruit Rates

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, April 22.—Transcontinental railroads were authorized by the interstate commerce commission today to file package specifications, estimated weights and loading regulations, governing shipments of dried fruits from California, Nevada and Utah to destinations in Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Manitoba and Ontario, without formal hearings. It was represented that the proposed regulations would prevent serious loss to carriers and wastage of fruit products.

CITY ACTS TO CONDEMN SCHOOL SITE

COUNCIL VOTES TO START PROCEEDINGS TO OBTAIN SOULMAN PROPERTY.

THINKS PRICE OF $12,500 TOO HIGH

Aldermen Balk at Paying $1,000 More Than Amount Named Six Weeks Ago.

That the John Soulman property on South Main street, at the corner from the Third street bridge, the south end of the new site for the high school, assessed $5,000 on the last tax rolls, has not increased $1,000 in valuation in the past six weeks and is not worth $12,500 at the present, was the contention of the common council last night when the high school site committee announced an inability to strike a deal with Mr. Soulman for the sale of his property.

The council made short work of the report and went on record and ordered City Attorney Roger G. Cunningham to draw up papers for condemnation proceedings. Unless Mr. Soulman agrees to the $11,500 figure, offered him by the site purchasing committee and declared fair and just by the council, suit will be commenced.

"There's a discrepancy somewhere," declared Alderman Edwin F. Kelly of the Fifth ward, "the place was only assessed $5,000 on the last tax roll."

"It wasn't more than six or eight weeks ago and in the Myers hotel lobby, that Mr. Soulman informed me his price was $11,500," said Alderman J. J. Dulin, also of the Fifth, and he continued, "How that property increased in value $1,000 in two months, I cannot figure."

"Mr. Dulin's figures are those first given to me as to what we would have to pay for the Soulman place," Francis C. Grant, ex-president of the board of education and a member of the site purchasing committee.

Soulman Names Price.

"The board offered Mr. Soulman $11,500. He refused to take it. He said, 'You can't have it for less than $12,500. You can't have it for even $11,000.' Not a cent less than $12,500."

The committee reported deals closed with every property owner of the site except John Soulman. Their figures were as follows:

Heirs Dr. Dudley, $9,000 with fire loss allowance.

Ed. Amersbach, $4,500 with rights to remove structure.

David, Jeffris Estate, $5,500 take $5,000 and remove existing house.

Heirs David E. Finkel, $8,500.

Heirs Curtis, $2,000.

W. A. Walrath, $8,000.

Roessling Bros., $1,700 with right to remove store.

About $56,160.

The total, without the John Soulman property is $44,660. Paying John Soulman the price offered by the committee, the site would cost $56,160.

Proceeds from sale of buildings on the site would be added to the surplus left of the $50,000 voted for the site.

Trend of feeling of the council was that the Soulman property was not worth the price asked and that the committee had offered a fair and just price.

Alderman Dulin said, "This body does not want to see the high school hold up. It does not want its committee, itself or the city held up. I recommend we go to the test. We then made motion for the city attorney to draw up the necessary condemnation proceedings papers and to lay the Soulman matter over until the next meeting to await developments."

LOCAL MAN, FUGITIVE 7 YEARS, SURRENDERS

Albert Jones, 37 years old, of Janesville, after seven years of freedom, gave himself up early today in Pittsburgh as a fugitive from justice.

Jones is held in the Pennsylvania metropolis awaiting orders from Chicago, where he is wanted on charges of forgery.

The prisoner said he was arrested in Chicago in 1912. While being taken to jail, he escaped and had been at liberty until this morning.

There is no record of Jones in the Janesville city directory for 1912, but the dispatch from Pittsburgh stated that Jones was a resident of Janesville seven years ago. Inquiry as to the possibility of Jones having a police record here has been made.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENT IN STRIKE SITUATION

Electrical wiring operations remain practically at a standstill as the result of the strike of electricians which continued without change today. There were no new developments in the situation, each side remaining persistent in its position.

PEACE and WAR

GERMANY has bowed to the virtual ultimatum of the entente powers relative to the sending of "mere messengers" to the peace conference at Versailles and will be represented by a delegation having full powers to negotiate a treaty of peace.

This closes what for a time seemed to threaten a grave complication in the work of the conference. It is probable, however, that the actual meeting of the allied and German delegates will not occur until April 28 as the change in the German plans and the physical impossibility of having the official draft of the treaty ready for presentation April 25 makes a postponement of the historic gathering imperative. Germany is ready to call for a plebiscite on the treaty, it is reported from Berlin.

In the meantime the Italian situation is a source of much concern in Paris. Conferences with Premier Lloyd-George and Clemenceau, Sunday and Monday morning, Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino of Italy absented themselves from the meeting of the Council of Four Monday afternoon. Whether this marked a virtual withdrawal of the Italians from the conference was not developed. President Wilson still opposed to recognition of the treaty of London, under which Italy claims the Alpine and the Dalmatian coast, has prepared a statement on the subject which will be made public if the deadlock continues, it is said. This was expected Monday night, but it was not issued from the Paris "White House."

A revolution has broken out in Turkey and a soviet government has been set up, according to news dispatches originating in bolshevik quarters at Odessa where it is said that official announcement of the news has been received. Constantinople is said to be under the rule of a bolshevik committee.

The Hungarian soviet government headed by Bela Kun is reported to have fallen. Rumanian forces advancing from the east have been joined by Czech troops and the soviet army has been defeated, according to advices. Szekter soldiers, representatives of a minor race living in the Transylvanian Alps, have deserted the soviet army and joined the Rumanians, it is said. Advices from Budapest indicate that the social democrats will take over control. They are headed by Sigmund Kunfi, the communist education in the soviet cabinet. Chaos is reported to prevail in Budapest.

The soviet regime at Munich also has crumbled. The end came Saturday, according to reports reaching London. The ministry headed by Herr Lohmeyer is at work and a resumption of governmental functions is under way.

On the Urul front in Russia forces under the command of the Omsk all Russian government have again defeated the bolsheviks who are reported to be retreating. Demoralization in the bolshevik ranks is reported and in the Viakta government the passions have run against the Lenin-Trotsky government.

TURKEY SWEEP BY NEW REVOLT

Turkish Consul Receives Official Notification of Change of Government.

BULLETIN London, April 22.—The important city of Vilna has been recaptured from the bolshevik, according to official admission in a Russian wireless dispatch.

(By Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, April 22.—The Hungarian government, headed by Bela Kun, has resigned under pressure of Rumanian troops, according to a dispatch to the Central News from Vienna quoting reports received in that city by aerial mail from Budapest.

Wild chaos is said to prevail at the Hungarian capital.

It is reported that Czech forces have joined the Rumanians and have defeated the Hungarian soviet troops.

Downfall Was Expected.

Budapest, April 22.—The downfall of the Hungarian soviet government was expected here as a result of the desertion of 30,000 Czech troops to the Rumanians and new movements against Hungary by the Czechs Slovaks. It is said that a socialist democrat regime headed by Sigmund Kunfi, present commissary of education, may succeed to control.

Turkey Swept By Revolt.

Paris, April 22.—A revolution has broken out in Turkey and a soviet government has been declared. A revolutionary committee has been established at Constantinople according to a telegram received here from Kiev, quoting the bolshevik representative at Odessa, who says that the Turkish consul there has received official announcement of the change in government.

EVANSVILLE WOMAN DROWNED IN TANK

(By Special Correspondent) Evansville, April 22.—Mrs. Mary Butts Reese, aged 78 years, was found drowned in the soft water tank on the upper floor of their home on Second street, last evening. When the husband and son came home about 4 o'clock and found her missing they thought she was with a neighbor. Her body was not found until after supper. Her death is believed to be entirely accidental, as she had spoken previously of going upstairs to clean out the water tank, and evidently lost her balance while doing the work.

She is survived by her husband, William A. Reese, aged 75 years; one daughter, Mrs. Will Woodstock, Magalloway; three sons, Arthur, Byron and Warren; and four grandchildren.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS GIVE THEIR REASONS FOR CALLING STRIKE

The striking electrical workers offer the following statement:
"Many people have been asking us to state our grievances through the columns of the Gazette. This will show clearly where the difficulties lie. At the Janesville Contracting Co., during the last year, men installing electrical wiring received from 20 to 40 cents an hour, and recently a man was engaged to wire the Carle block who was paid 50 cents an hour. This was the scale paid by the company up to the day the agreement was presented to the contractors.
"Before presenting an agreement the men tried to get a joint meeting of the contractors and officials of the union to talk over the situation, but were unsuccessful. They told us to present our agreement in writing and that they would return a written answer.
"Find Notice Posted
"The next day we called for our answer and we found posted on the door in order to stay at work the following day was changed from 10 to 9 hours and an increase of 15 per cent per-hour had been granted.
"By these terms a man previously getting $2.50 for a 10-hour day would now be getting 3 times 23 3/4 cents or $2.58 per day, and the others in proportion.
"Now this small raise does not help much in accordance with the increased cost of living. Many especially when laborers were receiving 40 cents an hour, and the electrical company paid as high as 60 cents for laborers on the new chimney they built.
"Another thing, the laborer has to furnish his tools while an electrician is to furnish a complete set which costs very high these days.
"The men were not satisfied with the increase posted on the clock and gave various excuses as to why they could not stay at work until the strike was pulled, as they were determined to strike if the agreement was not signed.
"Before a strike is called a man from the main office of the union must arrive and try if possible to settle in some other way. This was Mr. Blatter's mission in Janesville.
"Hours Not Practical
"Ten hours is not practical for electrical work. Many business places do not open until eight o'clock and in nearly all cases we cannot get into a residence until this time. The customer must pay for this hour wasted, just the same. When the days grow shorter it is to our disadvantage the last hour of the day, but the customer has to pay for this hour also. We think the people would rather pay a little more for the hours the men work than to have the day wasted. The men insist the union be recognized as there is nothing to prevent being put back on the old scale by taking the advantage of dual times and other opportunities the contractors might have.
"One man was discharged by a local contractor because he didn't drop his union card and try to work at the tractor plant after he had been notified by the union men working there that he would not be allowed to work under their scale."

WOMEN GETTING LINED UP FOR VOTE IN 1920

Milwaukee, April 22.—"Have all the women in this state reached the understanding that when the election is held in November, 1920, they can go to the polls and vote for their own choice of the presidential electors, who choose the president and vice-president of the United States?" asks Mrs. Theodore W. Fournier, of the Wisconsin Woman's Suffrage Association.
"It is time now to begin to prepare. Women should be learning about the league of nations and other national problems. Of course when they vote they will have to vote party tickets. Government of this country is by parties and must continue to be by parties. There is no other way. But extreme partisanship is an evil which I hope women will avoid. They will no doubt become republicans and democrats and members of other parties, but I hope they will not become so closely tied to party that they can see only good in one and only bad in the other.
"The election of Dr. Ida L. Schell and Miss Gertrude Sherman to membership on the Milwaukee school board and Mrs. W. G. Bleyer to membership on the Madison school board were outstanding features of the recent election.
"Women of foreign birth may not vote unless they are naturalized. The married woman becomes a citizen when her husband does but not otherwise.

The dinner is for the men of the city, invited by the committee and is one of a series of dinners and luncheons given by the council throughout the state.
Mr. Willis will speak upon "Law and Order," endeavoring to bring before those present and the general public the necessity and importance of law enforcement. He will speak upon the present day subjects, the turmoil in the foreign countries, bolshevism and its influence and relation to conditions in the United States.

BOOTLEGGING RUNS FREE IN BURKE BILL SAY ANTI-SALOONERS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, April 22.—A scoring condemnation of the Burke substitute to the prohibition enforcement measure proposed in the Wisconsin legislature was issued today by the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league in a statement signed by R. P. Hutton, secretary of the league, and B. N. Hicks, attorney for the organization.
"This is the real bill of the wets," declares the statement. It would read: "A bill to set aside the state of Wisconsin as a national reservation for bootleggers. Its only regulatory feature is to abolish the standing bar in 2 1/2 per cent saloons."
"Its first section wipes out every present regulation. There would be no longer any license fee. As no permit is provided for none could be revoked and offenders could pay the enormous fine of $25 and go back and repeat ad libitum. It would permit sale of such beer to children, saloons could be located anywhere, even against public schools. It repeals the Barker-Karpis law and would allow bootlegging without license and sell without regulation, there would be double as many saloons in wet cities and they would be forced into dry ones whether the people voted for them or not. Its only effect would be to increase the number of saloons selling beer of 3.5 percent alcohol by volume 2.75 percent by weight is 3.5 percent by volume, which is stronger than most beer was before the war."
"If this legislation makes prohibition mean more saloons selling more beer containing more alcohol to more people under less restriction may the good Lord pity us and even more the legislators who did it."
"Not only would it throw the state wide open, it would give a monopoly to the beer that made Milwaukee famous. This bill requires that beer shipped into the state shall be labeled with the kind and quantity of liquor and the alcoholic content but the beer that is shipped from within the state need not be labeled."

TEACHERS' PENSIONS SCARCE IN COUNTY

Few Rock county teachers are receiving a pension for 25 years' service in the teaching profession, according to A. Antislid, county superintendent.
John M. Gahagan, formerly principal of the Milton Junction high school, who has resigned to accept a position with the University Agricultural Experiment station, Madison, will be entitled to the pension, and two or three rural school teachers will be receiving it within a year or two, says Mr. Antislid.
Teachers' pension report blanks are being mailed out to the clerks of the different school districts today from the office of the county superintendent. In addition to these are the annual report blanks sent to all of the teachers.

MILK PRODUCERS TO MEET THIS EVENING

Milk producers will hold a postponed regular meeting at West Side Odd Fellows' hall this evening, Alvan Maxwell, secretary, stated today. The grand jury investigation into milk prices in Chicago this week will doubtless come up for discussion and will be the main topic of the evening. The monthly routine business will also be transacted.

High School News

Cards were received at the high school this morning from the Chamber of Commerce, urging the students to refrain from attending the baseball game in the direction of the Janesville Chamber of Commerce. Cards were also received from Washington, D. C., urging enlistment in the United States Boy's Working Reserve.
Baseball practice for the Sophomore class team will be held tonight at the Fourth Ward park. During the past few nights the candidates for the Soph team have been very few and it is doubtful if a team can be secured.
The Triangle club will hold a meeting this evening at the Y. M. C. A. building. Supper will be served and probably a speaker on hand.
Today is the last day for the seniors to hand in their order for commencement invitations. Miss Constance Cunningham will send in the order within a few days.

MILITARY SITUATION IN BAVARIA NOW IS REPORTED IMPROVING

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Paris, April 22.—The military in Bavaria is improving, according to an announcement made by the Hoffman ministry. The Spartacists, who took the town of Dachau ten miles north of Munich by violating the armistice with the government have been repulsed and the government forces are now holding the place.
The Hoffman ministry, which resumed office after the collapse of the soviet government Saturday night, is feverishly active, according to reports.
Delegates to the Diet are arriving daily and the peace treaty is being discussed. The assembly will meet soon. Russian prisoners of war who have been released from camps in Germany are now doing guard duty at the railroad station.
German leaders are making earnest overtures to the peoples of southern Bavaria and are sending agents through the country making an appeal for support of women.
Ernst Thälmer, president of the soviet government has left Munich but Dr. Leven, leader of the Bavarian independent socialist, who assisted in the Russian revolution, who assisted in the establishment of the soviet regime and Herr Nissen, one of the soviet leaders, remain in the city.
There is much plundering of towns in Bavaria according to reports, and places bitter fights have occurred between the communists and the bourgeois. At Rosenberg ten hostages have been shot and a line of 5,000 marks has been set up in the city. From Augsburg comes a report that the radical trend there is again increasing and there is a probability that the city will return to the soviet system.

LEGISLATIVE RECALL HELD VALID BY BLAINE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, April 22.—The C. E. Hanson bill giving the legislature power to recall an appointive official after an interpellation by Attorney General Blaine in an opinion to Assemblyman Axel Johnson of Polk county. The bill, which has been vetoed by the governor, comes up in the assembly for action Wednesday.
"It is my opinion that the legislative recall of an appointive official or other instrumentality through which the legislature will be exercised with respect to the removal of officers," says Attorney General Blaine.
"It is my opinion that the official whose office has been created by the legislature may be removed, and that the legislature may provide any method for the removal of such officer, and constitute any body or body with power of removal either in a summary manner or in such manner as the legislature may by express statute provide.
The big fight in the legislature on Wednesday will be over the C. E. Hanson proposition. This bill passed the house unanimously and in the senate it has a majority of one vote. When it was received by the governor he vetoed it.
The fight for the passage of the bill Wednesday will be led by Assemblyman Axel Johnson of Polk county. Axel Johnson of Polk county, Assemblyman T. S. Nolan is expected to lead the opposition to the measure. He is the recognized administrative leader on the floor of the house.

Brodhead News

Brodhead, April 22.—Broughton's opera house was crowded to the limit last evening for the patriotic meeting held in the interests of the Victory Liberty Loan drive and a welcome to the returned soldier boys. There was music by a quartette, a short talk by Miss Howe, a Red Cross nurse just returned, a short talk by Corp. Russell Agnew, also one by Roger Skinner, a returned soldier. The address of the evening was given by Supt. P. F. Neveerman, Monroe, after which the floor was cleared and dancing indulged in by those who wished this and the luncheon being free to the returned soldiers and nurse.

HOW TO SAVE ON SHOES

"Out of curiosity I tried a pair of Neolin Soles," writes W. F. Macartney of St. Louis, and today, after five months of hard service I fail to notice any real signs of wear on them."
This statement points the way to real economy in shoes. What your shoes cost, by the year, depends largely on how the soles wear and Neolin Soles do wear a very long time. Moreover, they are exceedingly comfortable and waterproof—scientifically made to be exactly what soles should be and so worn now by millions.

They are available everywhere on new shoes and for re-soles. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

Voice of the People

To the Editor:

It certainly must have been a "glorious feeling" to the many stock holders of Janesville Park Association to learn through the columns of the Gazette of the great value of their stock.

The writer has been led to believe by talking to many of the stock holders of this association, that their stock had never paid any returns and they never expected that it would, although many holders were led to believe that this private corporation would pay big returns when they bought their stock. Many of public spirited citizens purchased this stock, however, with no thought of ever receiving any return for their money.

Now, that there is an opportunity to cash in their stock, there seems to be a hue and cry to the effect that the city of Janesville is in danger of losing a great Recreation and Amusement Park. (As near as can be learned, once a year this ground is used about four days for fair purposes, and about once a week through the summer months a ball game is played there).

Now, let us see what benefits the city would receive if this property was subdivided and homes built. There would be sufficient room for two hundred homes, and at a low estimate the city of Janesville would receive annually $15,000 in taxes. This money alone was used exclusively for public parks and recreation purposes, where men, women and children could use it the year around (which Janesville must have in the very near future). It would pay interest on a public park costing $200,000, and allow $5000 as a sinking fund.

Then again, the amount of money that these two hundred families would spend in Janesville and vicinity would equal amount to $175,000 annually.

It can be said that these 200 homes can be built elsewhere in Janesville with the same result. This is quite true. It is equally true that a Troutling park and Fair Grounds can be acquired on land less expensive, where there will be no danger of being cut off from entrances and exits as there now are at the present location. If the Fair Association is going to continue where it is, it might be well for the management to pay some attention to the property that practically BLIND!

His Sacrifice — and Yours

Never again will he look upon the world he helped make free. His memory will be forever shadowed by the crushing forfeiture of everything he had a right to live for and one unending picture of the reeking hell through which he walked.

You, secure in peace and happiness, for whom the flowers of spring will bloom — for whom all light and form and color will combine to give you joy of living — can you speak of sacrifice when your country

try makes its Fifth appeal for dollars—dollars to be lent—not given? These poor, blind lads of ours had eyes to see their duty. Your duty is before you; do not pass it by unseen. Invest in the Victory Liberty Loan to the full limit of your cash and installments.

WAR PRICES.

The United States department of labor, through the information and education service, is issuing the results of a study of prices during the war and readjustment period made by the division of public works and construction development. Discussing the Civil war period as a precedent for war prices, the report says:

"A comparison of the course of prices during the Civil war and the present war shows many points of similarity during the two war periods.
The course of prices during the present period of readjustment and the corresponding period following the Civil war show more points of difference than of similarity.

"During both wars the wholesale prices of commodities in general rose steadily through the war period. The rise during the Civil war period, taking the year 1860 as the base, runs up to somewhat higher level than the rise during the present war. In both wars, building materials rose in price, but they did not at either time reach levels as high as the price levels of other commodities.

"At the beginning of the year 1865, the end of the Civil war being in sight, wholesale prices broke suddenly and violently. During the first six months of the year, prices in general fell off 27 percent from the high level of January. However, the break in wholesale prices, though unprecedented in violence and accompanied by the unsettling influence of the end of the great war, produced no business crisis or depression. Through the last half of 1865 prices recovered from the low point until in January, 1866, they stood just 16 percent below the level of January, 1865. From the beginning of 1866 prices dropped slowly downward. They did not reach the pre-war level until the year 1878. As is well known, during that period of inflation currency was at a premium. However, commodity prices remained above the prices of gold up to and including the year 1877.

"Building materials declined in price along with other commodities
during the first half of the year 1880.
However, the fall was less than in the case of other commodities. Whereas commodities in general dropped 27 percent, building materials dropped only 14 percent. The recovery during the second half of the year was more marked, prices of building materials returning to the level of the last quarter of the year 1864, and remaining at that level for period of a year before the decline set in. The index figure for the building materials group remained higher than that for all commodities up to and including the year 1874.

"The currency was on a distinctly unsound basis in the Civil war reconstruction period. The sharp fluctuations in prices gave rise to much speculation and the opportunities for development of the resources of the country, such as unused lands, roads, and harbors, building of new roads, led to over-expansion of business resulting in the financial panic of 1873.
This panic was not accompanied by any sharp decline in prices.

"As we stated above, it was thirteen years after the Civil war before prices returned to the pre-war level.
The principal cause of the return to the pre-war level. The principal cause of the return to the pre-war level was the fact that the pre-war level was such abundant opportunity for the development of new and more economic methods of production in the shape of new forms of machinery and new kinds of business organizations. These opportunities we do not have at the present day in any measure comparable with the previous period."

A WARNING!

Two automobiles have been damaged within three days on Milwaukee street, just west of the bridge. That the occupants were not seriously injured, perhaps, was due to luck more than anything else. They were caught in a trap which was made by allowing automobiles to be parked in a restricted zone.

A city ordinance provides that motor cars must not be parked within certain limits on the side of the Milwaukee street bridge. This ordinance is being violated and the safety of the public is menaced.

Last night about 6 o'clock, a driver of a small car was proceeding along Milwaukee street at a point in front of the Merchants' and Savings bank.
Ahead of him was a woman driving a roadster. Both were going slowly. A traction car was coming east on Milwaukee street and at the time the woman's car reached the point in front of the bank, she evidently feared she would be unable to pass between the parked automobiles and the street car which was coming down the hill.
She stopped. The driver of the car following also stopped suddenly, being forced to the car track because of the parked cars. The street car motorman put on the brakes with all his strength and reversed the controller, but although he was at least 40 feet away and saw the small car could not clear and that it was standing still, he was unable to stop the trolley.
It crashed into the fenders and damaged them. The damage was not serious. But that is not the point.

Suppose the street car had been going faster. Some one would have been injured.

There are two menaces to face.
First, the street is too narrow to allow autos to park in front of stores in the restricted zones. Second, the street cars do not seem to be equipped with brakes which will hold a car traveling at slow speed down a slight incline. The police can enforce the parking ordinance. The street car company, if it continues to operate in a manner which is a nuisance to the public, can be made to fix their brakes.

It is up to the city officials to see that the ordinance is not violated. Let these two slight accidents serve as a warning.

THE GOLDEN RULE.
John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is reported to have said a day or two since that industrial policy will never arrive until both capital and labor put into operation the golden rule.

"Bolshevism is not likely to spread in the United States when the wage earner knows that capital is treating him fairly," continued Mr. Rockefeller. "Therefore, the most sane industrial policy is that which has constantly in mind the welfare of the employees as well as profits, and which,
when human considerations demand it,
subordinates profits to welfare."

A recent dispatch announced the transfer by a kodak company of $6-000,000 worth of stock to its older employees and the newer employees as soon as they become eligible through length of service—not as a gift, but to be paid for, on easy terms, at par value, about one-sixth of its par value.

On the same day a New York corporation announced that each year henceforth, after paying a certain fixed dividend on preferred stock, the remainder of the profits should be divided fifty-fifty between the workers and the owners of the stock.

These are not concessions with a string tied to them. If they would be worse than useless. And they are as complimentary to the employees as to the employers, for discontented, disloyal workmen would never inspire such expressions of good will.

These may be accepted as signs of good omen. They mark the long journey traveled by society since feudal lords forged an iron collar about the necks of their serfs.

Are they not promises of America's immunity as Mr. Rockefeller indicates, to bolshevism, which, full of hate and forgetting that two wrongs never make a right, is attempting today to forge an iron collar about the neck of capitalism?

WHERE IS THE PATROL?
It is evident that the patrol on the Janesville-Milton Junction road has overlooked some of the bad spots which have become worse within the last few days. Sunday several ruts which might resemble the trenches of
"No Man's Land" caused automobilists to say unkind things about the road officials. The road looked as though a big truck had torn out great pieces of ground.

It would not take long to get these bad spots into condition if work was started at once. It would appear that little work has been done on any of the roads, thus far this spring.

Some of those who are so keen to criticize the baseball team which was put into the field the first time this year against a superior opponent, should remember that the promoters have not had much encouragement.
They have had to fight an uphill battle to get started. If everyone who is really interested in having a good club here would get behind the fellows who are giving their time to getting one started and boost, a first-class team will eventually be brought together. Give the boys credit for the attempt they have made and withhold your criticism until it has been demonstrated that criticism is necessary. Be regular sports!

There is much joy in knowing that we are subscribing to a Victory loan and not an indemnity loan. Think what it might have been if our brave soldiers had not lent their arms to the struggle to keep the Hun out of Paris.
And after you have turned it over in your mind, buy a Victory bond.

Owners of Janesville Fair association stock can afford to keep it. If they must sell it, give the man who will prevent it from falling into the hands of land speculators from a chance to buy it.

Now that the time has come for the planting of Victory gardens, do not forget to allot some space for flowers.
Help to make Janesville blossom not only as a live, wide-awake, industrial and business center, but as a city of beautiful homes and lawns.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

REST TIME.

Glad I'm living nowadays;
With the world with sun ablaze;
Glad the Lord has favored me
Once again to live to see Tulips nodding at my feet
And to smell the clover sweet;
Glad that I can hear the birds
Singing, without need of words,
Songs of joy on every hand
That the soul can understand.

Yesterday a robin hopped
To my window sill and stopped
And beside the crystal pane
Started up a glad refrain;
Poured out all his melody
For the whole wide world and me;
Sang his gladderest repertoire, Paused for breath and sang some more.

And I stood and heard him through
And I thanked him for it, too.

Now the daisies are awake,
And the buds begin to break;
Now the ivy starts to creep
And the roses from their sleep
Strive themselves, and likewise I
Stretch beneath the patch of sky,
And go forth and find once more
Life as radiant as before;
Cut with birds and shrubs and trees,
I can live my reveries.

Winter hedged me in with care,
Kept me from the pathways fair,
Wore me down with burdens grim,
Like the elm tree's branch and limb
Meeting every wind that blows
And goes forth and find once more
Now the robins sing once more,
I can wander from my door,
And with all earth's loveliest
Find a day of perfect rest.

ROY K. MOULTON

SOMEBODY'S COMING TO OUR TOWN.

The Lyons (Kan.) News tells of a Los Angeles woman on her way to New York, who stopped off in Lyons for a visit. While in Lyons she brought a new hat and coat, which she will wear on to New York with her satisfied feeling she will be as stately as if she had waited to buy the thing in New York at a higher price. One wonders why she is going on to New York, having outfitted herself in Lyons, but the News doesn't say.

Uncle Terwilliger says: "Of course you can have a war garden this year, but there's no reason why you can't have an armistice garden."

Say, Roy, perhaps you can solve the problem. The attached clipping appears in the New York Herald. The question is: "Just what are the necessary qualifications? Must this man be a 'screen salesman' or an 'experienced insect'?" Tell me, or I'll go bug.

DELAVAN TRACTOR SHOW ON TOMORROW

(By A Special Correspondent)
Delavan, April 22.—Twenty-seven tractors up to noon had been entered in the Delavan County Tractor demonstration to be opened here tomorrow at 9 o'clock. Each tractor owner will plow 2 acres of land in clover and timothy sod. One hundred acres have been set aside on the "Golden farm" by the manager, James Murphy. The morning will be given over to plowing the land, and sowing the seed. Each entry is required to be on the ground at 8:30 in the morning. If the demonstration is a success it will be made an annual affair.
A get together banquet will be held at the Delavan hotel this evening. J. Quinn and C. Brabazon are in charge of the banquet plans.
L. L. Oldham, Elkhorst, is general manager of the whole demonstration. E. C. Woodford, Darien, is in charge of the rules and regulations; Ralph Blake, Whitewater, chairman of the finance committee; and W. C. Dickerson, East Troy, chairman of the advertising.

To Find How Quick Army Sent Back U. S. Educators

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Chicago, April 22.—When the annual meeting of the National Education Association meets at Milwaukee, Wis., June 29-July 6, it is expected that the association will call for reports to show how promptly educators who enlisted in the army or navy were returned to their former positions when they came back to civil life.
Mr. Crabtree has sent a circular to all members urging that "teachers should be taken back into the teaching corps and their names placed on the payroll not as soon as a vacancy occurs nor at the opening of another school year but immediately on their return home."
Where there is delay Mr. Crabtree asserts that publicity and pressure will be brought to bear.

Loan Drive Well Under Way; Workers Will Meet At "Y" Tomorrow Night

Men and women workers in the Victory loan campaign in Janesville held a booster meeting following a dinner at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening at six o'clock, to hear Sergeant L. N. Smith speak and to receive instructions for soliciting.
Today were the practically all day long of the workers would attend. Sgt. Smith, who is sent out as one of the speakers in the seventh federal reserve district, will have a busy time at the Y. M. C. A. and Rock county. He will arrive in the city at 2:45 tomorrow afternoon, will speak at the workers' banquet at the Y. M. C. A. at six o'clock, and will be taken to a big loan rally at the Y. M. C. A. in the evening to give another address.
Thursday noon he will give addresses in various factories in Janesville, being subject to the orders of the factory command. He will be the main speaker at the great rally at Evansville Thursday evening.
Sergeant Smith had experience as a speaker in the Fourth Liberty loan. He is an American, who enlisted in 1914 in the United States army, and who for the first two years of the war took active part in all the big engagements. He was in the battle of Ypres during the first gas attack when the soldiers had neither helmets nor gas masks. He responded to a call and volunteered to lead a bombing party of 20 men out of which but 4 returned alive. He has been gassed and wounded several times.
After he returned soldiers and sailors Thursday night will be followed by one of the biggest booster meetings in the history of the city. Governor Elmerhard of Minnesota and other notable speakers will address the gathering, which will be open to the public.
Every returned soldier and sailor in the county is invited to take part in the parade which is planned both as an honor to the men and as part of the campaign. The army men are requested to meet at the armory at 7:30. The "gobs" are to meet at the

AWARD GERMAN HELMETS

County Chairman H. A. Mendenhall announced that he has received 36 German helmets which will be distributed among the cities, villages, and townships in the county as trophies. The civic bodies in the cities and villages will be awarded the trophies while those given to the townships will be placed on display in the town halls.

Y. M. C. A. At 7:35 and march to the city hall to join the soldiers.

Y. M. C. A. at 7:35 and march to the city hall to join the soldiers. A. J. Sartell has been selected to take charge of the contingent.

With the Bowler City band leading the line of march will be from the city hall to the city hall to join the soldiers.

All service men are urged to take part and show their wear their uniforms but those who do not choose to do this will also be welcome to participate.

A loan rally will be held in the town of Hamilton Friday evening with Sgt. Lewis French and M. O. Mout as the speakers.

The "four-minute men" got into action last night at the different theaters in the city. They will continue to speak throughout the drive. Those who spoke last evening were: Robert J. Cunningham, S. M. Smith, L. A. Avery and W. H. Dougherty.

The city's march at the same steady gait today with a constant demand for bonds at headquarters. No figures on subscriptions will be available until the end of volunteer week.

Volunteer buttons and red ribbon badges, worn by those buying $500 or more worth of bonds, are beginning to appear everywhere. Young women have invested in small bonds to a noticeable extent.

Several new workers have been added to the women's committee: Mrs. Oliver Gieson, Mrs. A. C. Gieson, Mrs. Alice Mason, Mrs. Roy McDaniel, Mrs. C. S. Atwood and Miss Grace Mout have been appointed members of the special committee. High school girls who worked at headquarters yesterday were the Misses Margaret Bailey, Mayme Behling, Vernice Sennett and Gwendolyn Carmen.

Those Golden Stripe Minstrel boys, who are doing a stunt at the Beverly theatre this week, have a good little act and won applause yesterday afternoon. They will play at all shows including Friday night.

Sgt. Jimmie Travers, "devil dog" champion of the famous Sixth regiment of the Marines, is not only handy with his fists, but he has a most pleasing voice. Jimmie made a hit with his "Jerry." James also acted as an end man in the show and pulled some funny stunts. The team made a hit with their other end of the stage occupied with fast flying jokes. Stoneham also sings well.

Corn. Howard Baird, 33rd division, told some interesting experiences of the battles in which he engaged.

Sgt. Jack Bell of the British forces and Sgt. Jack Higgins, a wireless operator, contributed to the entertainment with songs and dances. The minstrel stunt is in addition to the regular motion pictures.

High school youths in their regular class meeting at the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon will run off the final heats in a number of track events. An effort will be made to clear the slate for the new events to follow.

On account of the two banquets at the Y last evening it was impossible to run off any events in the employed boys' class. They enjoyed a swim in the tank.

BAPTIST SOCIETIES HAVE VARIED PROGRAM

An interesting meeting of the World Wide Guild and of the Philanthropic class of the Baptist Sunday school was held last evening at the home of Mrs. E. G. Harrington, South Academy street. Miss Lorena Bowerman was assistant hostess, and about 47 young women were present to enjoy the supper served at 6:30 o'clock.

A brief business meeting of the Philanthropic class with Miss Schwartz, the president, presiding, was held after supper. And a short report given of financial conditions of the class by Miss Caroline Palmer as treasurer. At the meeting of the World Wide Guild the president, Miss Florence McDowell, presided and the secretary, Miss Jerg, read a report, as did also the treasurer, Miss Rhoda Sherman.

Miss Mary Barker who has just returned from California gave a description of a meeting of the World Wide Guild which she attended while there. Mrs. J. S. Taylor gave a few thoughts gathered at a convention recently which she styled, "Highlights of Sunday School." It was chiefly descriptions of leaders in that line. Mrs. J. Pritchett gave some ideas on recent legislation affecting labor of women and children.

Miss Gora Belden gave a brief summary of the negro problem of the nation which she characterized as one of the chief things in the work of reconstruction to be considered after the war.

Musical numbers were contributed by Miss Schwartz on the piano, and by Mrs. Cunningham who played "The Bird and the Minstrel." Miss Olive Pope gave two vocal solos, "Gap in the Hedge" and "Such is Love." The next meeting will be held in two weeks with Mrs. Sharp.

INTERIOR DECORATING PICTURES ARE SHOWN

An entertainment was given last evening at the Federated church by the Congressional Women's club. Mrs. P. A. Blackman, president. It was a set of pictures giving glimpses of charming home interiors, and household conveniences of all kinds. The accompanying lecture was read "The accompanying lecture was read by Mrs. C. E. Loring. A pleasing musical program was also given which added much to the occasion.

A male quartette consisting of Messrs Schoof, Waldman, Smith and Mead sang two numbers. Mr. Schoof sang "Her eyes are like twin pools," Miss Clara Shawman sang "Baptism" and "Child's Dream." She also sang a duet with Mr. Waldman, "Twilight Gatherings." Mrs. S. S. Richards sang "An Old Fashioned Town" after the pictures were concluded.

Mrs. A. C. Hough and a group of young women served as ushers. Mr. Dale sold tickets and Mrs. Sutherland and Mrs. Wilcox managed the preliminary sale of tickets. The church had its Easter decorations and was further decorated with flags loaned by a local merchant.

FARM DOGS MUST WEAR TAGS IF BILL PASSES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]. Madison, April 22.—The Wisconsin legislature will again attempt to pass a bill for the licensing of farm dogs. The measure, gathered by Assemblyman Axel Johnson, Turtle Lake, has been recommended for passage, and on motion of Assemblyman F. N. Graess, Sturgeon Bay, will be taken up for consideration Friday. The bill on the licensing of dogs has been killed and all interested parties have centered their forces back on the Johnson bill. The features of the Johnson bill are summarized as follows:

"All dogs over six months old must wear license tags at all times and be subject to slaughter without such tag. The license tag period begins July 1 and ends June 30 of each year. The dog owner must pay $3 for each license, plus a fee of 15 cents to the clerk for recording the license. Whenever dogs become six months old, irrespective of the time of year, a payment of $3 and a license must be obtained.

It is fact that a dog is without a license attached to the collar is to be sufficient evidence against it. Persons may kill any dog found running at large without tag, and no action shall be maintained to recover damages on such dog or dogs unless it can be proved that the animal was duly licensed and that the tag has been lost or destroyed. Any dog accompanied by its owner, which entered the fields or premises of another person shall constitute a nuisance, and the owner or owner of such enclosure may kill such animal while therein without liability or responsibility of any kind.

THE RUDY FURNACE

Features You Will Appreciate

THE RUDY DIVING FLUE FURNACE

Main Top

Extra heavy, single piece corrugated, causing gases to rotate and mix thoroughly.

Diving Flue System

Long fire travel within furnace. Enormous circulation of air around the flues.

Combustion Chamber

Corrugated, giving extra radiating service and forcing an intimate mixture of burning gases, compelling complete combustion.

READ THIS LETTER:

Chicago, Ill.
April 15, 1919.
Sheldon Hardware Company,
Janesville, Wis.
Gentlemen:

After thorough investigation we have selected the RUDY FURNACE as being the best adapted to our needs and you may consider this letter as an order for one hundred and ten (100) RUDY WATER A.I.T. FURNACES, which will be used in the one hundred and ten (100) houses now under construction by us on Milton avenue, your city.

We build nothing but the best type of American homes, using only first class material throughout and that is why we were impressed with the RUDY FURNACE.

We will have the first house ready for the installation of the furnace in three weeks from this date.

Yours very truly,
MATTESON-LINDSTROM CO.

Diving Flue Radiator

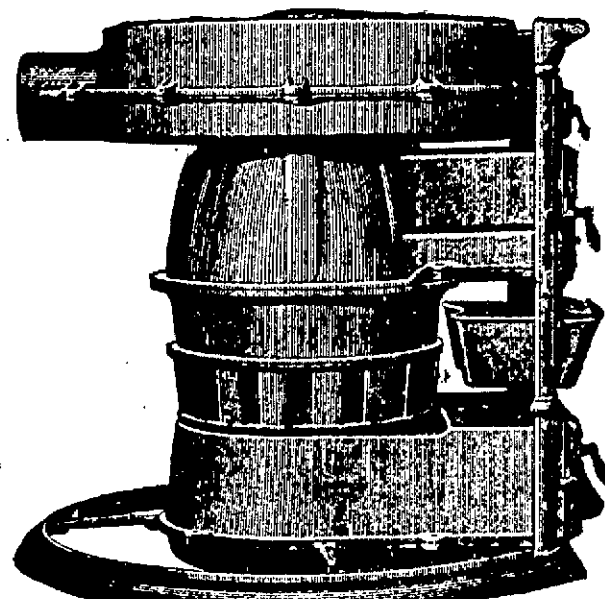

Cast in two pieces, assuring castings of uniform thickness and absolutely smooth inside.

Clean-Out Doors

Outside the casing. Radiator can be cleaned without dirt or dust getting into the air chamber.

Water Pot

Of large capacity. Holds five gallons. Correctly located to cause adequate evaporation.

THE RUDY TOP RADIATOR FURNACE

Ash Pit Door

Full size ash pit door with especially large draft opening.

Joints

Double-cupped and locked. Absolutely gas and dust tight.

Bottom Ring

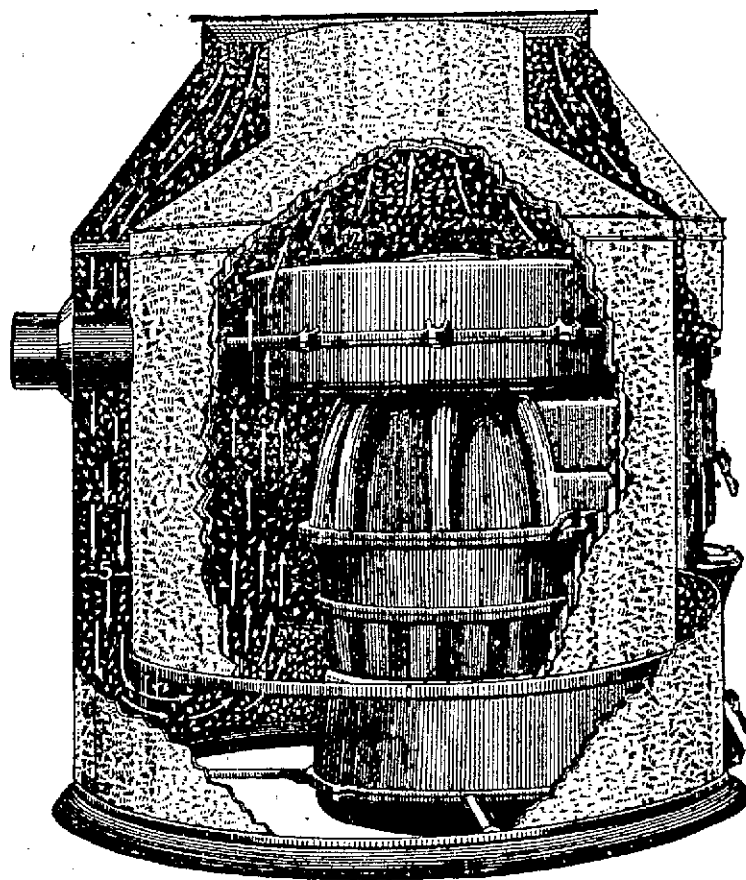

Strong and durable—forms a rigid support for casing.

Grates

Triple surface. Easily removed by tripping a lever. Operated in pairs.

Doors

Large feed doors, will admit large chunks of fuel.

Damper

Upright instead of horizontal. Will not stick or warp.

Front

Full height two-section receding front shortens the feed mouth so the combustion chamber can easily be reached when feeding fuel. The inside of the furnace is readily accessible.

Fire Pot

Extra heavy, two piece, with hot blast slots in lower section. Nothing to burn out.

Ash Pit

Exceptionally deep and roomy. Made to hold water.

Weight

Carefully proportioned, the greatest weight against the greatest strain.

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS

"The circle," explained the Dot Drawing teacher, "is very easily drawn with a pair of compasses or a string and without it we would have a hard time getting the sun or moon into our pictures. And the circle is such a cheerful looking thing. I never look downcast. What does it express to you, Rose?" "Ready, I could hardly tell," answered Rose, "without looking the dots, but if I had a guess, I would say it didn't express a frown, rather it expresses" (10)

"Tobacco" Raising in Scotland.

During the American Civil war tobacco became so dear that several unsuccessful attempts were made in Scotland for its cultivation. The chief seat of the new culture was in the neighborhood of Kelso, where it succeeded so well that sixteen and one-half statute acres brought $520 per acre.

"Your Nose Knows"

A WOMAN'S BUSINESS

EPICURE

The comfortably fat and radiantly polished manly figure of the little French maid dressed in black and white she had on.

"These French French flibbety flibbety sure makes me look lank a snippy-snappy young fool!" she grumbled. "No, it feels lank it, too. But lawdy, when a body wuks in a muddled house—"

That was Katie's one joke—"muddled" for "muddled" household; and her grumbling. She did not even attempt to hide from herself her satisfaction at life in the Steadman household, a sun-drenched, concrete-and-wooden cottage on the set on Staten Island. With another sniff she took up the chamomile-tipped stick and chimed out the call to dinner on a set of melodious bronze bells.

From the upper story the sounds of two typewriters clicking—one briskly with a feminine nervousness, the other more masculinely slow—stopped almost simultaneously. Half a minute later Walter and Janet Steadman met at the entrance to the dining room.

There was a little scuffling sound and Janet's whisper sounded: "Walter, don't! Katie will see you."

Walter straightened up with a cat-fall-of-canary smile on his face. "She'll have to catch me off my behavior," he laughed. "Where are the mapples?"

He was answered by the rattling of canoe paddles in the canoe just beached on the sand in front of the house.

"Yip, yip, yip! I'm so hungry I'll eat a bite of monkey when I get in!" caroled a boyish voice as two pairs of young legs scampered onto the front porch. "Are you, Janet?"

"Walter Steadman, Junior, you wash your paws before you eat anything," severe little feminine voice came from behind him. "Won't have marks on my dress, wash!"

"Aw, some day I'll wash my hands clean off!" the youngster grumbled. "It's wash, wash, wash, morning, noon and night, Go!"

Walter and Janet listened to the voices. When the youngsters appeared around the corner of the hall.

TRICOLLETE CAPE HAS SWAGGER AIR

By ELOISE.

We want to say it while there is yet time, "The cape's the thing." Tomorrow it may not be so, but today the cape is still the favored wrap.

The latest appears to have been shelved along with the winter furs. Mohair balls will be the constant companions until the fashion for capes wanes. There are serge, tricollete and summer capes of wash materials and there a lot more, so that the feminine world will surely be capitolizing this season.

Very swaggy indeed is the tricollete cape pictured. It is rooklike cloak trimmed with kittens ear cloth in dust color. Three bands trim the edge of the cape and form the collar. The cape is made of a detachable collar of Scotch mole is the finishing touch. The plaid skirt of the same color combination and with dust colored bias hat trimmed with black wheat complete a costume which is ultra smart and very youthful.

Do not write to the young man until you have heard from him. I believe that he will write some time. Do not place too much confidence in his declarations of love. Some people make light of it. Unless he asks you to marry him you have no reason to know that he cares for you.

In reply to "A. M. B.": Remain silent for the time being. Do not answer your husband's last letter until he writes others, ignore them. When he thinks he has lost you he will want a reconciliation, probably, and will either come to see you or ask you to return to him. If in a few months you find that he does not care, get a divorce. Since you are a minor you will have no difficulty in obtaining one.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am greatly troubled with a loss of hair. Will you kindly suggest a lotion which would prevent this? THANK YOU.

The following formula is highly recommended for loss of hair: Resurin, one and one-half grains; quinine, hydrochlorate, three grains; pure vaseline, one ounce.

This is to be applied to that part of the scalp which is devoid of hair, or from which the hair is rapidly falling. Should this preparation produce much irritation of the scalp an ointment of twenty grains of borax to one hundred of vaseline should be applied.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young girl and am very much in love with a young man whom I met about two years ago. He lives in another state, but we have been corresponding with each other for nearly a year. This boy has told me many times he loves me and his last letters have all been love letters, although I never wrote anything but friendly letters.

In the last letter he said he could hardly wait until vacation so that he could come to see me. I answered this letter and he has been over three weeks and he has not answered.

Do you think he cares anything for me? Shall I write him again and ask him why he did not answer?

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

PROPHYLAXIS OF HAY FEVER

So-called hay fever is due to different pollens in different cases. Dr. J. L. Goodale has studied some 350 cases of hay fever, of which 93 caused the pollen of various grasses, 227 by ragweed pollen, five from maple, four from rose, three from oak, one from willow, and five from birch. Of these 350 cases 123 have received desensitizing prophylactic treatment prior to the arrival of the hay fever season or upon the annual return of the ailment, and of these 123 cases 46 showed improvement as compared with previous experiences of the patients but still had troublesome symptoms. 55 cases showed marked improvement, and five patients had no return of the hay fever at all for two years.

The immunity or partial immunity conferred on the hay fever sufferer by desensitizing pollen extract injections is only temporary, lasting not many weeks. Therefore the prophylactic treatment must be administered each person. It is best begun some weeks prior to the time of year in which the symptoms usually develop in a given case, though good effects may be obtained later or even after the annual attack has developed.

Dr. Goodale has found that an injection of one to three minims of a one-to-fifty-thousand solution of extracts of one following pollens gives satisfactory results: Willow, poplar, maple, birch, oak, grass, rose and ragweed. (These pollens are commonly responsible in New England, but other pollens would undoubtedly be more effective in other parts of the country.)

The first injection causes in nearly all cases a local reaction at the point of injection, swelling, itching, redness or more or less, lasting three days or thereabouts. This an exceedingly encouraging sign, indicating that the specific causative pollen extract has been selected for the treatment. The dose is doubled the second time and each succeeding time, and the intervals between injections are usually four or five days, though smaller daily injections may be given with advantage.

Such treatment is at least harmless in any case. It is always available in the form of a nasal spray.

My father claims the pores are for excretion only, but I claim that one breathes not only through the nose and mouth but also through the pores. I claim also that medical application to the skin are taken in through the pores, and that water can be taken in this way.

ANSWER—Every baby should be weaned before he is old enough to vote. The way to wean a baby is to give him one less breast feeding each day for about a week, and then no more under any circumstances. The customary troubles with the breast are avoided by a very strict let-alone policy. That is, let the breast alone. Nature will not break interference here.

Salmon Thorbott—One can salmon, two tablespoons butter, two eggs, two tablespoons flour, one pint milk, salt and pepper.
Pick bones and fat from salmon and shred.

Make a sauce by melting butter and adding flour and milk, salt and pepper. When cool, add eggs slightly beaten.

Place a layer of fish in a buttered dish, then a layer of sauce, alternate until all is used. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake one-half hour. This serves six persons.

Salad for Lent—Do you care for smoked fish? Just try a smoked herring with nice flaky, white meat. Mix fish flakes with small pieces of celery and shredded lettuce, and after placing a portion on crisp lettuce leaves, cover with dressing made from one cup weak vinegar, two tablespoons sugar, one tablespoon flour, one teaspoon ground mustard, one-half teaspoon salt.

While vinegar is warming, mix dry ingredients with cold water and add a well beaten egg. Pour vinegar on this mixture, stirring constantly, then set back to boil. While it is cooling prepare salad and it is ready for use in a few minutes.

Savory Baked Fish—When fish is to be boiled it should be tied into a piece of cheesecloth to keep it from breaking apart. A tablespoon of vinegar or a slice of lemon should always be put in the water in which fish is to be boiled and adds to the flavor. Cook in enough boiling water to cover, allowing ten minutes for each pound. Remove cheesecloth.

ANSWER—Every baby should be weaned before he is old enough to vote. The way to wean a baby is to give him one less breast feeding each day for about a week, and then no more under any circumstances. The customary troubles with the breast are avoided by a very strict let-alone policy. That is, let the breast alone. Nature will not break interference here.

CHAPTER XI.Mr. Sprouse Abandons Literature at an Early Hour in the Morning.

After thrashing about in his bed for seven sleepless hours, Barnes arose and gloomily breakfasted alone. He was not discouraged over his failure to arrive at anything tangible in the shape of a plan of action. It was inconceivable that he should not be able in very short order to bring about the release of the fair guest of Green Fancy. There was not the slightest doubt in his mind that international affairs of considerable importance were involved and that the agents operating at Green Fancy were under definite orders.

Mr. Sprouse came into the dining room as he was taking his last swallow of coffee.

"At, good morning," was the bland little man's greeting. "Up with the lark, I see. Mind if I sit down here and have my eggs?" He pulled out a chair opposite Barnes and coolly sat down at the table.

"You can't sell me a set of Dickens at this hour of the day," said Barnes sourly. "Besides, I've finished my breakfast. Keep your seat." He started to rise.

"Sit down," said Sprouse quietly. "Something in the man's voice and manner struck Barnes as oddly compelling. He hesitated a second and then returned to his seat. "I've been investigating you, Mr. Barnes," said the little man, unsmilingly. "Don't get sore. There are a lot of things that you don't know, and one of them is that I don't sell books for a living. It's something of a side line with me." He leaned forward. "I shall be quite frank with you, sir. I am a secret service man. Yesterday I went through your effects upstairs, and last night I took the liberty of spying upon you, so to speak, while you were a guest at Green Fancy."

"The deuce you say!" cried Barnes. "We'll get right down to nacks," said Sprouse. "My government—which isn't yours, by the way—sent me up here five weeks ago on a certain undertaking. I am supposed to find out what is hatching up at Green Fancy. Having satisfied myself that you are not connected with the gang up there I cheerfully place myself in

Insurance Man Tells of Friend's Recovery

"He suffered considerably from gas in stomach and colic attacks, and at times was very yellow. His doctors diagnosed his ailment as gall bladder trouble, and that an operation was necessary. Some one persuaded him to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. Since taking it one year ago he tells me he has been able to eat anything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. P. Baker and druggists everywhere."

AMERICANS
MAKING GOOD
AT SIXTY-FIVE

Don't worry about old age. A sound man is good at any age. Keep your body in good condition and you can be as hale and hearty as a young fellow as when you were a young fellow.

Affections of the kidneys and bladder are among the leading causes of early or helpless age. Keep them clean and the other organs will be in good condition, and you will have nothing to fear.

Drive the poisonous wastes from the system and avoid uric acid accumulations. Take GOLD MEDAL Haaren Oil Capsules, and you will find that you are as good as the next fellow. Your spirits will be rejuvenated, your muscles strong and your mind keen enough for any task.

GOLD MEDAL Haaren Oil Capsules will do the work. But be sure to get the original imported GOLD MEDAL Haaren Oil Capsules. They are reliable and should help you, or your money will be refunded. For sale by most druggists. In sealed packages three sizes.

STRONGER MEN
TAKE THE LEAD

They Have Nerves of Iron and Real Red Fighting Blood

Vital force is the material from which leaders are made. It is well worth getting and holding.

The health and nerve of the athlete is what Nature intended every man and woman to have.

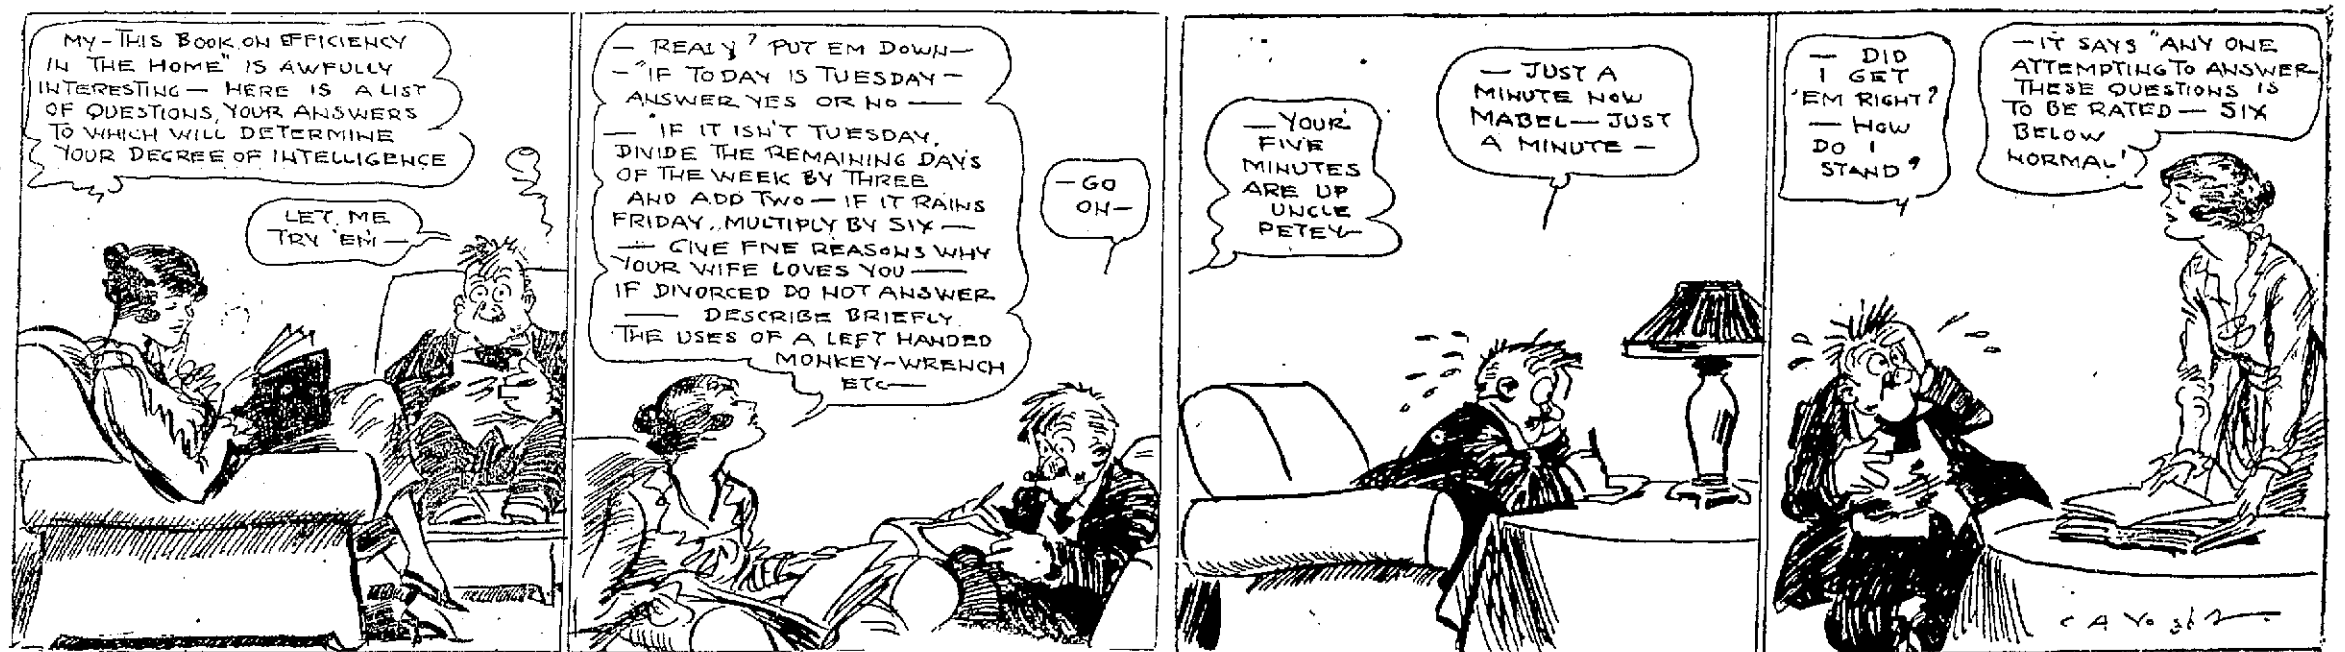

The blood of an athlete is pure and red, strong heart pumps and drives it through his body. No wonder that every inch of his system is filled with energy and health. His nerves like iron, his blood like red, makes a pleasure and life one song of joy.

A leading Doctor says, "Everyone should feel this way. That if you are not red blooded, get red blood. Get down and on your last legs, for you to build up your blood and nerves with exercise, and the great power of Nature's great prescription, Phosphated Iron and Red Blood and Nerve Builder."

Special Notice: To insure doctors and their patients getting the Genuine Phosphated Iron and Red Blood and Nerve Builder, we have put it in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to sell you pills or tablets.

PETEY DINK—IGNORANCE MUST BE NORMAL, ACCORDING TO THIS.

Your names, Mr. Barnes. You were at Green Fancy last night. So was I. You had an advantage over me, however, for you were on the inside and I was not."

"Confound your impudence! I—"

"One of my purposes in revealing myself to you, Mr. Barnes, is to warn you to steer clear of that crowd. You may find yourself in exceedingly hot water later on if you don't. Another purpose, and the real one, is to secure, if possible, your co-operation in beating the game up there. You can help me, and in helping me you may be instrumental in righting one of the gravest wrongs the world has ever known."

"Will you be good enough, Mr. Sprouse, to tell me just what you are trying to get at? I know nothing whatever against Mr. Curtis and his friends. You assume a great deal."

"Excuse me, Mr. Barnes. I'll admit that you don't know anything against them, but you suspect a whole lot. To begin with, you suspect that two men were shot to death because they were in wrong with someone at Green Fancy. Now I could tell you who those two men really were and why they were shot. But I shan't do anything of the sort—at least not at present."

Barnes was impressed. "Perhaps you will condescend to tell me who you are, Mr. Sprouse. I am very much in the dark."

"I am a special agent—but not a spy, sir—of a government that is friendly to yours. I am known in Washington. My credentials are not to be questioned. At present it would be unwise for me to reveal the name of my government. I dare say if I can afford to trust you, Mr. Barnes, you can afford to trust me. There is too much at stake for me to take the slightest chance with any man. I am ready to chance you, sir, if you will do the same by me."

"Well," began Barnes deliberately. "I guess you will have to take a chance with me, Mr. Sprouse, for I refuse to commit myself until I know exactly what you are up to."

"In the first place, Mr. Barnes," said Sprouse, salting his eggs, "you have been thinking that I was sent down from Green Fancy to spy on you. Isn't that so?"

"I am answering no questions, Mr. Sprouse."

"You were wrong," said Sprouse, as if Barnes had answered in the affirmative. "I am working on my own. You may have observed that I did not accompany the sheriff's posse today. I was up in Fleville getting the final word from New York that you were on the level. I telephoned to New York. Eleven dollars and sixty cents. You were under suspicion until I hung up the receiver. I may say."

"Jones has been talking to you," said Barnes. "But you said a moment ago that you were up at Green Fancy last night. Not by invitation, I take it."

"I invited myself," said Sprouse succinctly. "Are you inclined to favor my proposition?"

"You haven't made one."

"My suggestion, Mr. Barnes. It is quite impossible for me to get inside that house. You appear to have the entire. You are working in the dark, guessing at everything. I am guessing at nothing. By combining forces we should bring this thing to a head, and—"

"Just a moment. You expect me to abuse the hospitality of—"

"I shall have to sneak plainly. I see." He leaned forward, fixing Barnes with a pair of steady, earnest eyes. "Six months ago a certain royal house in Europe was despoiled of its jewels, its privy seal, its most precious state documents and its charter. They have been traced to the United States. I am here to recover them. That is the foundation of my story, Mr. Barnes."

"Without divulging the name of the house I will say that its sympathies have been from the outset friendly to the entire allies—especially with France. There are two branches of the ruling family, one in power, the other practically in exile. The state is a small one, but its integrity is of the highest. Its sons and daughters have married into the royal families of nearly all of the great nations of the continent. The present—or I should say, the late ruler, for he died on a field of battle not many months ago, had no direct heir. He was young and unmarried. I am not permitted to state with what army he was fighting, nor on which front he was killed. It is only necessary to say that his little state was gobbled up by the Teutonic allies. The branch of the family mentioned as being in exile lent its support to the cause of Germany, not for moral reasons but in the hope and with the understanding, I am to believe, that the crown lands would be the reward. The direct heir to the crown is a cousin of the late prince. He is now a prisoner of war in Austria. Other members of the family are held by the Bulgarians as prisoners of war. It is not stretching the imagination very far to picture them as already dead and out of the way. At the close of the war, if Germany is victorious, the crown will be placed upon the head of the pretender branch. Are you following me?"

"Yes," said Barnes, his nerves tingling. He was beginning to see a great light.

"Almost under the noses of the forces left by the Teutonic allies to hold the invaded territory the crown jewels, charter and so forth, heretofore mentioned, were surreptitiously removed from the palace and spirited away by persons loyal to the ruling branch of the family. As I have stated, I am engaged in the effort to recover them."

"Now we come to the present situation. Some months ago a member of the aforesaid royal house arrived in this country by way of Japan. He is a distant cousin of the crown, and in a way remotely looked upon as the heir apparent. Later on he sequestered himself in Canada. Our agents in Europe learned but recently that while he pretends to be loyal to the ruling house he is actually scheming against it. I have been ordered to run him to earth, for there is every reason to believe that the men who secured the treasure have been duped into regarding him as the avowed claimant of the crown. Now, Mr. Barnes, without telling you how I have arrived at the conclusion, I am prepared to state that I believe this man to be at Green Fancy, and that in time the loot—to use a harsh word—will be delivered to him there. I am here to get it, one way or another, when that comes to pass."

Corns Peel
Off PainlesslyThere's Only One Genuine Corn-Peeler—That's "Gels-It."

Get rid of any corn, callus, or that's the painless-peel-off way. "Gels-It" is the only corn remedy in the world.

"2 drops of 'Gels-It'—Corn is doomed."

What does it do that way—effectively, thoroughly. Why get down on the floor, tie yourself up in a knot, and have to fool with "backpacks," plastered greasy ointments that rub off, sticky tape, and digging knives and scissors, when you can just off your corn or callus in one complete, painless, easy "Gels-It" application? You use 2 or 3 drops, and that's all. "Gels-It" does the rest. Get rid of that corn at once, so that you can work and play without corn torture. Be sure to use "Gels-It." It never fails.

"Gels-It" is the guaranteed, money-back, corn-remover, the sure way, costs but a trifle at a drug store. Mfd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Janesville and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Smith Drug Co., Badger Drug Co., J. P. Baker, McCutcheon & Sons, Peonier Drug Co., Red Cross Pharmacy, Reliable Drug Co., and W. T. Sherer.

Dinner Stories

A literal interpretation of a commonplace remark is sometimes amusing. In "Midsummer Motoring in Europe," Mr. De Courcy W. Thom tells of a traveler who said to a very small boy then making his first voyage, who had climbed upon the bul-work and was gazing across the ocean to the far horizon. "My boy, did you ever before see such a glorious stretch of ocean—as far as you can see, only ocean?"

"Yes," answered the boy. "Hardly," said the man. "Where do you think you saw it?"

"On the other side of the ship," replied the youngster.

President Wilson's favorite dinner-

lick is brought to mind by the following tale from the Orient:

Timur-lenk, the Tartar invader, was very ugly and, catching a glimpse of himself in a mirror, he burst into tears. The court jester began weeping also and kept it up long after the master had stopped.

Timur looked at him in astonishment. "I went with reason," he said. "At beholding my own ugliness—I, the lord of so many lands. But I do not understand why you should thus despair."

"Oh, my lord," replied the jester, "wept for two hours after seeing yourself in the mirror for an instant, is it not natural that I, who see you all day long, should weep longer than you?"

An old lady walked into the judge's office.

"Are you the judge of reprobrates?" she inquired.

"I am the judge of probate," replied his honor, with a smile.

"Well, that's it, I expect," answered the old lady. "You see," she went on confidentially, "my husband died destitute and left several little imbeciles, and I want to be their executor."

CAINVILLE CENTER

Early-Day Road Makers.

The Romans were the great road-makers of olden times, and the British are their successors. Sir William Robertson, chief of the Imperial general staff of England, astonished a company of diners by remarking that the British in France used 50,000 tons of stone in five weeks in road building.

Tales of the Friendly
Forest

Now, let me see. We left Uncle Lucky and Billy Bunny in Carrot City, didn't we? Sure enough, that's where we left those two little rabbits. Well, after a while they got tired of looking at the carrot telegraph poles and the carrot barber sticks, so they started off in the Luckymobile, and by and by, after a while, they came to the Old Mill Pond, where Uncle Bufflegut sat on his log eating flies, and the little tadpoles swam in the water close to the edge of the bank.

"Let's stop under the willow tree," said Billy Bunny. "It's nice and shady there." So they both hopped out and looked around, and just then who should come by but Tommy Turtle with his little shell house on his back.

"Hello, there, Tommy Turtle," said the old gentleman rabbit, and he took off his old wedding topknot hat and bowed most politely.

Mr. Tommy Turtle, pray, how do you do?

Every place you go you take your house along with you.

Over his goggles. "You're the first No gas man comes with a bill. Comes pounding on your door to get Some money from you rill."

"Ha, ha," laughed Tommy Turtle. "That's a very good piece of poetry. Won't you please write it on the top of my shell roof? So Billy Bunny opened his knapsack and took out a blue pencil and pretty soon he had it painted in neat letters on Tommy Turtle's shell."

"That looks very fine, very fine indeed," said Uncle Lucky, squinting over his goggles. "You're the first turtle I ever saw with poetry on his back, though I once saw a turtle who carved on his shell."

"Goodness me!" said Billy Bunny. "He must have been a very old turtle."

"We sometimes live to be over 200 years old," answered Tommy Turtle with a chuckle. "You see, we're not afraid of anything but men and big snakes. And it's only in South America where the terrible boa-constrictor lives, that we have to look out for snakes."

"Goodness gracious me!" exclaimed Uncle Lucky. "Don't talk about such dreadful things! I once read in Prof. Crow's little black book about a 'boa-constrictor' twenty-five feet long that swallowed a turtle as big as a dishpan."

And just then who should fly by but the old man crow.

"Ha, haw, caw, caw," he said, and then he took out his little black book and commenced to read:

"Learn something new each day you live. Then some day you'll be wise. For he who lives and strives and learns Will surely win a prize."

And next time, if that wise old crow doesn't drop his spectacles on Tommy Turtle's back and break them all to pieces, I'll tell you another story about Billy Bunny and his friends.

Had Chronic Stomach
Trouble Fifty Years

Mr. Pletz Finally Found How to End It—He's 88 Years Old.

"I had been afflicted for 50 years with chronic stomach trouble and dyspepsia. I had tried everything, but nothing seemed to give me any relief. For years I have had to go to the water closet as often as eight or twelve times during the night on account of my trouble. I had to be very careful what I ate and could not eat fruit at all."

"I have used but four bottles of Milks Emulsion and it has benefited me more than all the other medicines have. I can go to bed now and sleep the whole night and get up without hurting me."—Wm. M. Pletz, 818 South 13th St., Springfield, Ill.

When Mr. Pletz wrote this letter he was eighty-eight years old, and his age is hard to believe at that age. Don't suffer for the rest of your life. Don't suffer another week! Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a correct laxative. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and cathartics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs, chronic stomach trouble and constipation are promptly relieved—usually in one day.

A Wild Adventure

By WALTER JOSEPH DELANEY

Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.

About once a year Nancy, wife of Aleck Porbes, had "a tantrum." Looking back over a full decade, Aleck could recall many of these fitful spells. For a day or two Nancy was unmanageable, complaining, nagging. Suddenly the spell would disappear and Nancy would be "good as pie!" She never expressed penitence, and the renewed sun of her graciousness made Aleck forget to allude to her spasm of ill nature.

"I don't dare to face her!" he groaned. "She's due for her regular outbreak. If not, what I have done will hasten it. Oh, dear! The loss of the two hundred dollars worries me, but when I think of what Nancy will say about it I'm scared!"

This had happened: Aleck had collected two hundred dollars. Nancy knew all about the transaction and was to have half of the sum to buy a new set of furniture. About four o'clock Aleck had come home, found her absent and had loitered about town.

Returning, he had made an appalling discovery. He had lost the money! Hastily he retraced his way but found no trace of the missing roll of bank notes. His heart sank to his boots. He dared not face Nancy. A new suggestion came to him. — He would take the first train for Adrian. There lived a brother who might loan him two hundred dollars, but the last local for the day was gone when he reached the railroad station.

As he passed the village garage he recognized a farmer just ready to start out. The man could take him as far as the cross roads, four miles from Adrian. The automobile was an open roadster, the evening was chilly and Aleck had felt his chronic hoarseness coming on by the time he reached the cross roads. He was stiff and shivering as he started on his long walk. This side of Adrian, about two miles, Aleck made out the lights of the little town of Leesville. He started a short cut. In the dark, got mixed in a swampy stretch, fell over a great log and lay insensible for nearly half an hour.

When Aleck regained consciousness he could not find his hat, he limped from a sprained ankle, he could feel a great abrasion on one side of his face and, a thoroughly wretched and nerve-racked being, he reached the road to be nearly run down by an automobile containing some wild spirits bound in the opposite direction. He had not proceeded half a mile when he came across a hut, evidently blown off the head of one of the bilious crowd. It was a soldier's hut, with the regulation band about it. Aleck was glad to put it on. Then he made for the gleaming village lights. With chattering teeth and shaking limbs he made for a brightly lighted room at the rear of what seemed to be the town billiard parlor. Half a dozen young fellows stared at him as he booted in upon them, craving warmth and well nigh exhausted.

Aleck must have fainted away, for when he again opened his eyes some one was pouring a powerful stimulant down his throat. A sense of rare relief and comfort came over his benighted consciousness.

"He's a soldier," spoke an unsteady voice. "You can see that by his hat. Say, fellows, our expected chum from the front hasn't shown up. We'll show the honors of war to this hero, eh? Here, old fellow, we're going to banquet you. See? Up to the groaning table with the victim!" and Aleck was carried to a chair before a bewildering supper layout. He tried to speak. He could not. Only a hoarse monotone responded to the effort. His old ailment was upon him, he had temporarily lost his voice.

"Hey! give me a text for a speech," nudged the lively young fellow beside him, amid the jangling of glasses. "Voice gone, my friends, evidently from exposure in the trenches. Here, write something," and given pencil and paper, Aleck wrote:

"Treated rough."

"Ah! my friends," cried the orator grandiloquently, "they treated him rough over there!"

"Lost in a swamp, crippled!"

"Think of his sufferings in behalf of his beloved country! He's getting another chill. Prime him up with another dose!"

Now Aleck could never remember how he got back home, but, carrying the banquet bouquet, he entered the house the next morning. Nancy stared at him, astonished.

"Flowers for you," croaked Aleck. "You've been drinking!" said Nancy seriously.

"They poured it down me. I wasn't responsible. I lost that $200."

"Well, I found it in the kitchen. We taken my share, yours is in the clock. Now give an account of your self."

It sobered Aleck. It delighted him to hear the merry laughter of Nancy as he detailed his adventures.

"So you were afraid of me!" she said. "Well, after this, when I feel a spell coming on, I'll go and stay with my sister till it's over. You poor man! To fall in with that bibulous crowd of reckless rotifers. You must sign a pledge as an evidence of good faith, and next time you feel afraid of me come and tell me your ridiculous story over again, and its very funniness will make me good natured."

Great Things Born in Silence. Silence is the element in which great things fashion themselves together; that at length they may emerge, full-formed and majestic, into the daylight of life, which they are thenceforth to rule.—Carlyle.

PROMINENT JAPS COMING TO U. S.

Juichi Soeda, above, and ex-Minister of Justice Ozaki.

Two of the leading men in Japan are coming to the United States in the near future to get American views on various subjects. Juichi Soeda, ex-president of the Japanese imperial railroad and now the president of the Hoshi News Co., a large newspaper, intends to spend his time exchanging views on important matters with prominent American statesmen. Mr. Ozaki, ex-minister of justice and leader of the Constitutional party, will investigate the working out of universal suffrage as carried on in this country. Ozaki is a great orator in the lower house in Japan.

The War Consciousness of Britain As Mrs. Humphry Ward Views It

By MRS. HUMPHRY WARD.

HERE was a cloud of jackdaws circling round the great gashed tower at Ypres, where the last handwork of the fifteenth century builders lay open to sky and sun. I watched them against the blue, gathering in, also, the few details of lovely work that still remain here and there on the face of what was once the splendid Cloth Hall, the glory of these border lands. And one tried to imagine how men and women would stand there a hundred years hence, amid what developments of this strange new world that the war has brought upon us, and with what thoughts.

WHERE ENEMY LINE BROKE. Behind us were in the wide, shell-pocked waste of the huge battle field, with many signs on its scarred face of the latest fighting of all, the flooding back of the German line in last April over these places which it had cost us our best lives to gain, and of the final victorious advance of King Albert and the British Second Army which sent the Germans fleeing back through the burning of the land.

Behind us, the innumerable, water-logged shellholes, in which, at one time or another, in the swaying forward or backward of the lines, the lives of brave men had been so pitifully lost, struggled in mud and ooze; here a mere signpost, which tells you where the flood stood; there the stumps that mark the places of brave men and another signpost which bears the ever famous name of Gheluvelt. In the southeast distance rises the spire of Menin church. And this is the "line" now, for months and years, like a blood-stained presence! While, to the southeast, I make out Kemmel, Scherpenberg and the Mont des Cats, and in the far north, the line with a few trees on it—Passechendale!

Passechendale!—name of sorrow and of glory. What were the British losses in that place? Months' fighting from June to November, 1917, which has been called the "Third Battle of Ypres," which began with the victory of the Messines ridge and culminated in the Canadian capture of Passechendale? Outside the inner circle of those who know, there are many figures given. They are alike only in that they seem to grow perpetually. How, heartbreaking, wrestle with the old hostile forces of earth and creeping water and struggling mud.

We won the ridge and we held it till the German advance in April last forced our temporary withdrawal; we had pushed the Germans off the high ground into the marsh and beyond; but we failed, as every one knows, in the real strategic objects of the attack and the losses in the autumn advance on Passechendale were an important and untoward factor in the spring retreat of 1918.

COMPLAINTS OF UNINFORMED. How deeply this Ypres salient enters into the war consciousness of Britain and the empire! As I stand looking over the black stretches of riddled earth, at the half-demolished pillboxes in front, at the pools in the shellholes where the light is sparkling on this bright day, at the fat trees between us and the line, where lie Zillebeke and St. Paul, and a score of other names which will be in the mouth of history hundreds of years hence no less certainly than the names of those little villages north and south of Thermopylae, which saw the advance of the Persians and the vigil of the Greeks—I am suddenly reminded of a letter that reached me in August last, just when the British campaign of the last three months of the war was beginning. It was written by a Canadian, a Y. M. C. A. worker in an American camp, on August 4, and reached me about the 10th.

"I see here," writes my correspondent, "hundreds of the finest remaining white fronts—each every week—rich, wonderful military material, and very attractive and lovable boys—but it discourages all one's hopes for future unity and friendship between us all to realize as I have done the last few months that the majority of these men are entering the fight—firmly believing that England has her come for share—that France has her part to play—and that this is not from one or two, but hundreds."

"The writer then describes the rich and beautiful districts in the mid-regions of the states, far from the sea and remote in general from intercourse with Europe, from which the troops in the camp she was serving were mainly drawn—and she pines for it. It is a crying shame that the only knowledge these splendid men have of England's share in the war is drawn from the belittling reports of the pro-German newspapers that reach them at home."

MORE KNOWLEDGE NEEDED. Much water no doubt has passed under the bridges since last August. But a similar report has reached me only this week from the neighborhood of Verdun, and in any case it is probable that many thousands of these "splendid men" of whom this lady speaks, especially in the more lately formed camps, and among the later drafts of the American army, have already gone home and will go home without any opportunity of close contact with the British army, and military operations seen from a distance, even in Europe, have a curious way of losing their true bearing and proportion.

Witness the "miracle of the Marne" itself. Sir Frederick Maurice's recent book places that most famous of all modern battles in a light which is not only to all (outside the inner military circles) but a very few experts and students among the allies. Would it not be well, before the whole of the great American army goes home, that as many as possible of those still in France should be given the opportunity of seeing and studying the older scenes of the war on the British front? And that as many as possible of our men should be able to see for themselves the vast preparations of all kinds that America was building up in France for the further war that might have been; preparations which, as no one doubts, changed the whole atmosphere of the struggle?

LOSSES AS THEY STAND. I have quoted my Canadian letter with no purpose of complaint—far from it. And, of course, there is no belittling of the British part in the war among those Americans who have been brought into any close contact with it. Only they are too few! That so many of your splendid boys should know so little of what our boys have done, gives one a tightening of the throat. "Belittling reports?" How many thousand British dead—men from every country in England and Scotland, from loyal Ireland, from every British colony, lie within the circuit of these blood-stained hills of Ypres? The estimate of British and French dead in 1918, before the terrible and prolonged fighting of the following summer and autumn, in which—practically—the British alone were concerned. How many more in the Somme graveyards?—around Lens and Arras and Vimy?—about Bourlon wood, and the lines of the first battle of Cambrai?—or in the final track of our victorious armies breaking through the Hindenburg line on their way to Mons? America has lost 54,000 of her gallant youth in the great struggle, and was in it, though not in the fighting line, for a year and a half. But through four long years scarcely a family in Great Britain and the Dominions, that possessed men on the fighting fronts—and none were finally exempt except on medical or industrial grounds—but was either in mourning for or in constant fear of death for one or more of its male members, whether by bullet, shell, fire or bomb; or must witness the return to them of husbands, brothers and sons, more or less injured for life.

The total American casualties are about 300,000. The total British casualties—among them 700,000 to 800,000 dead—are 2,229,000 out of a total population for the empire of not much more than two-thirds of the population of the United States. There is small room for "belittling" here. A silent clasp of the hands between our two nations would seem to be the natural gesture in face of such facts as these.

TWO FROCKS WHICH SHOW REASON WHY PRINTED CHIFFONS ARE NEWEST FAD

The most popular of all the spring and summer fabrics seems to be the printed chiffon. They mean comfort and daintiness and are extremely dressy for any occasion. These two frocks are charming models for Easter time. The one on the left is sand color printed in wood brown shades with inverted platings and graceful draping. A sash of brown satin adds the finishing touch. The youthful frock on the right is heavy chiffon printed in cherry colored plaid. It is draped over pussy willow satin. Narrow satin ribbons in victory shades form the girle.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, April 22, 1879.
Col. Burr Robbins makes the very generous offer to furnish free transportation to all those who desire to attend the opening party at Foster's new hotel in Milton Junction, next Thursday night. Full arrangements have been made for a jovial time and a large number will doubtless take advantage of the offer and attend the opening.

The Temple of Honor have decided to give another of the social dances. The committee in charge of the arrangements are: E. L. Dimock, A. W. Baldwin, Robert Cairns, George Osgood and J. D. King.
The Mutual Improvement club held a pleasant and profitable meeting last night. The following spoke: C. A. Stearns, Miss Clara Drake, and Miss Carrie Zeiminger. Mr. Watteny will conduct the next meeting of the club.

Misses Canswell, Hawver, Griffith, Bass, Mills, Peters, and Eaver, the guests of honor were the Misses Field and Jenkins.
Mrs. Harry Hicks, Kenosha, spent Easter with her parents.
G. K. Blakely is in Boston and New York on business.

Miss I. Mills, Ripon, is a guest of friends here this week.
M. B. Maxon spent Sunday in Chicago with his son.

Louis Bandon, Delavan, died Sunday. Funeral was held in Harvard at Lutheran church with burial in Harvard.

Mrs. M. Lackey and Miss Alta Leach spent Easter in Chicago. Miss Emeline Church is teaching in Fontana, for Miss Rebert, who is ill. Harold Watts, Milwaukee, visited here Sunday.

George Goodrich and wife spent Sunday in Williams Bay.

Jessie Hand and wife, Lake Geneva were visiting at the J. E. Van Schaick home Sunday.

Henry Tuning and wife entertained a family gathering Sunday. Walter Lackey and wife are home from Florida. Mrs. Kate Rodman is better. Joseph Osmund, Sharon, was a caller at Fred Adams Sunday.

The new common council held their first meeting last evening. Mayor Cobb occupying the chair for the first time. The new roll call of the aldermen is as follows: Barnes, Burns, Church, Croft, Cox, Davies, Fitzgibbons, Joyce, Robinson, Van Kirk.
Mayor Cobb gave a short address telling of the financial condition of the city. He showed how the bonded debt of the city was $40,000, while the city owns school buildings and engine houses which at a very low estimate are worth $80,000, making its assets two dollars to one of liabilities. He also stated that there were 319 persons employed in the various manufacturing plants of the city and that the total amount of their production was valued at $2,025,300. The Mayor stated that the financial condition of the city, compared favorably with the other cities of this size in the state.

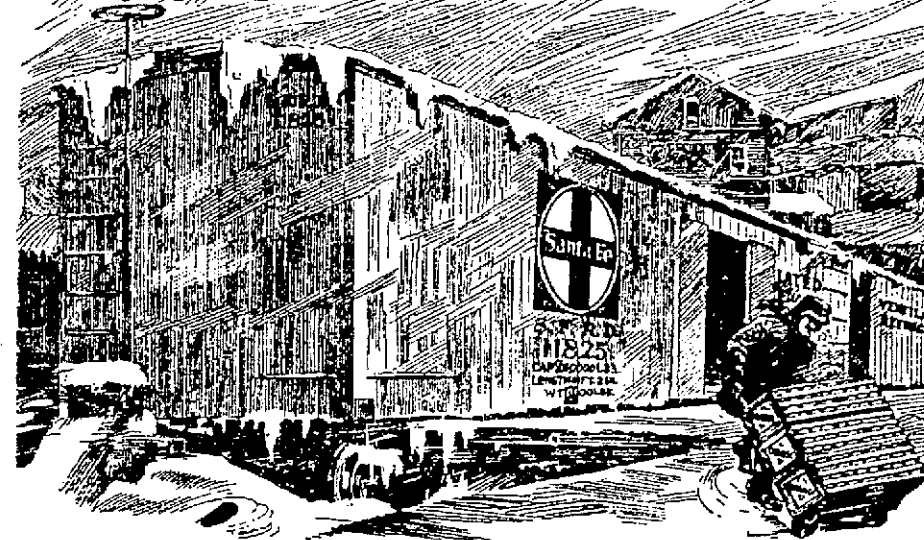

Miss M. Seaver, Sharon, was a Walworth caller Sunday. Burns, Church, George Massey, Linn, was a business caller here Monday.

When You Build—

Consider the Insulated Car.
How, without artificial heat, it carries its cargo of perishable freight from sunny South to frigid North. A lesson for every home-builder

It may seem a far cry from an insulated refrigerator car to the beautiful home of your dreams. But progress is made of the extensions—new applications—of proved principles.

We all want home to be a place of comfort—a cozy retreat from extremes of weather. To get this we are perfectly willing to take a lesson from a freight car.

Think for a minute about a trip of one of these refrigerator cars, thousands of which cross the country the winter long, laden with tropical fruits from Florida and California and bring them to the coldest climates in perfect condition. Take an extreme case to illustrate the point:

In the coldest days of that terrible winter a year ago, a car of oranges was loaded in California for Winnipeg, Canada. The temperature in California was 70°. The fruit was loaded—the doors sealed—and the car was on the way for its two weeks trip. The greater part of journey was through below-zero weather with an occasional blizzard. The last days through Canada the temperature ranged as low as 25° below zero. And when the car was opened in Winnipeg not an orange was frosted.

This perishable fruit weathered the journey because the car was insulated with Flaxlinum.

Flaxlinum

For years Flaxlinum has been used in the best household refrigerators and refrigerator cars. So you can see that its efficiency as an insulation material has been thoroughly demonstrated. In recent years the use of Flaxlinum as an insulating material for homes has spread rapidly. In almost every community in this section there are houses equipped with it.

Over and over people tell us that from the standpoint of comfort and economy they could not afford to be without it.

Saves One-Third of Your Fuel Bill

Flaxlinum brings comfort to the home because it prevents the heat and cold in the outer air from going through the walls and roof of the house. And in keeping out the cold in winter it saves from 30% to 40% of the fuel bill. In summer a home insulated with Flaxlinum is from 10° to 15° cooler than one that is not. Nothing that enters the construction of a house pays a bigger return on the investment.

Tests have shown repeatedly that a layer of Flaxlinum one-half inch thick, the thickness in which it is ordinarily used, is equivalent in heat and cold resistance to four solid inches of back plaster, or to thirty thicknesses of building paper.

It's Cheaper to Build a Warm House Than to Heat a Cold One

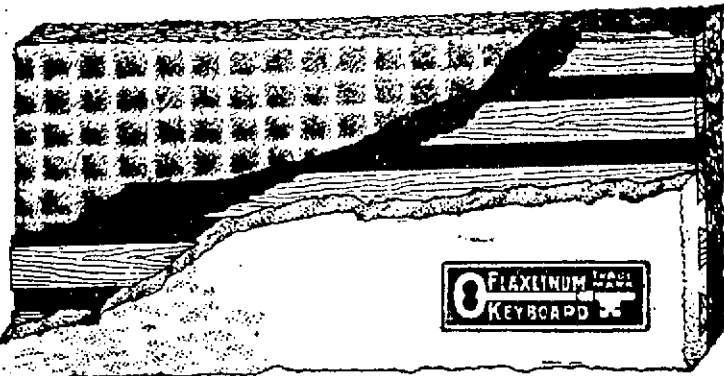

NORTHERN INSULATING COMPANY, St. Paul, Minn.

Flaxlinum is flanged to fit between the studding in the walls making double air spaces. No special construction required. The sheets come cut to the proper width and are easily and quickly applied.

Flaxlinum Keyboard for Stucco Houses

Flaxlinum Keyboard solves the problem for the owner who wants a warm stucco house at an economical cost.

Flaxlinum Keyboard is built up of a sheet of Flaxlinum one-half inch thick, overlaid with one thickness of heavy saturated and coated asphalt paper. The Flaxlinum and asphalt paper are mounted on No. 1 white pine beveled lath. Keyboard is nailed directly over the sheathing and is ready for the stucco.

Detail showing construction of Flaxlinum Keyboard and application of stucco to it.

Here are Some of the Things that Flaxlinum Does

- Saves 30% to 40% of your fuel bill.
- Keeps your house warm in winter.
- Keeps it cool in the summer.
- Keeps out the noise the year 'round.
- Used as floor deadening in school houses and apartments, it shuts out noise from the floors above or below.
- Makes warm farm buildings, garages or any other buildings where warmth is required.
- Increases farm production by making warmer farm buildings possible. Warm poultry houses mean more eggs. Warm bee houses mean earlier and healthier pigs. Warm dairy barns mean more milk.
- Used for ice houses and all kinds of vegetable and fruit storage houses.
- It is rat and vermin proof.

Flaxlinum is sold by leading building material dealers everywhere. It is specified by the best architects and endorsed by all reputable contractors. If you do not know the name of your nearest Flaxlinum dealer, write us. Free sample and literature on request. In writing please state what kind of building you are interested in.

Every Farm a Factory

(National Crop Improvement Service.)

MANY theorists who are old enough to know better are advocating that a man who produces all that he can on his farm is foolish, because they have noted at various times that small crops have sold for more money in the aggregate than larger crops.

"Suppose in a crop-failure year that corn should go to $10 a bushel? If you have no corn what good would that do you? Would it be better for a few farmers who have corn to make big money out of the farmers in the crop-failure section and others who have no corn?"

"Suppose every man should cut down his acreage of cotton to boost the price. Would the man with the smallest amount of cotton get rich? Nobody asks you to grow cotton at a loss; there are hundreds of things that can be successfully grown at a profit. Why be a slave to cotton? But when you do grow cotton, grow on each acre all you can profitably produce. In order to do this you will have to know the cost of fertilizer, labor, etc. Then it is a matter of arithmetic.

"There are planters who make money year after year in cotton. They can make money often when you can't. Whose fault is it? Many fail in business-farming as well as merchandising. If you can't make it pay—get out of it.

Make Every Acre Work Profitably.

"The principle involved is the same as in manufacturing. The student of economics knows that if a plant is not used to its full capacity there is a consequent loss in the return on the investment. The same is true on an acre of land," said Mr. Frank Baackes, vice-president of the American Steel & Wire company, when asked about the cotton situation. "In the press service of one of our middle states colleges, the dean says, 'None of our instructors are teaching the farmer that it is either his duty or to his greater advantage under peace conditions to secure a maximum production regardless of other economic considerations!' Exactly so; but such advice must be made definite in order that the lazy and inefficient may not take it as an excuse to loaf on the job.

"It is true that if every factory in the United States should make nothing but collar buttons we would soon have more collar buttons than could be disposed of; and the same thing is true of farming. Do not be misled—every farmer must produce all of the corn, oats, hay, forage, wheat, sirup, Irish and sweet potatoes, vegetables, milk, butter, fruit and all other products of the soil first, to properly nourish his own household, and second, to feed the outside world.

Distribution Usually to Blame.

"The trouble is not usually in over-production. Distribution is to blame for most of the trouble, although of course there is always the danger that too many farmers will manufacture collar buttons, so to speak, when they ought to be balancing the world's ration.

"The bureau of markets has undertaken this problem—that is, to advise so far as possible what to grow, but the farmer is doing as he always has done. If the price of potatoes is high, in the fall he grows potatoes until he glut the market. Next year he grows no potatoes, and the third year potatoes are high again. The wise man does not attempt to keep all of his eggs in one basket.

"The farm is a factory and the same advice is given to farmers that has been adopted by other manufacturers: 'You can't make a profit unless you know your costs. Standardize your products.'

"No market scheme, whether of co-operation or legislation, can long maintain a superior price for an inferior commodity.

"Farmers should first maintain themselves and family and labor on their own farms; and this applies to cotton in the South and to wheat in the North. I have no patience with a pile of tin cans at the back door of the farmhouse."

MORE SPEED ON PART OF RAILROAD BODY DEMANDED IN BILL

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, April 22.—A law to compel the railroad commission to make more promptly pass on cases before it was recommended by the special legislative investigating committee which has been probing the affairs of the Milwaukee street car company and the cessation of service there on Jan. 1, was before the legislature today. The committee declares that there appears to be "a general lack of confidence between officials of the city of Milwaukee and the members of the street car company in the ability of the railroad commission to administer the law."

Certain advertisements and propaganda literature issued by the company insofar as they were intended to cause the commission "in its decision of matters then pending before it, the action of the company is censurable."

"The men had been buffeted back and forth until finally they struck upon the report 'in doing so they knew they had the sympathy of their employer.'"

The investigation was conducted by a special committee of the legislature composed of Senators George E. Skene, chairman, River Falls; W. C. Zumbach, Milwaukee; Assemblymen Clarence H. Carter, Viroqua; James B. French, Superior; and M. E. Johnson, Madison. Carter was chosen as secretary of the committee. Charles H. Crownhart, former member of the state industrial commission, was chosen as special counsel.

Several minor increases were granted various of the constituent companies during the year 1918," says the report.

The committee regards it as the unquestionable legal duty of the company to have maintained service upon lines January 1, even though it was necessary for it to comply with the demands of the men for increased wages, which the company admitted to be just," says the report. "It was not only its legal duty to maintain the service, but its moral duty as well. The committee finds that the company was able to temporarily advance the wages of the men according to their reasonable demands and continue the service."

The committee says that the company ever at any time made a condition of their continuing the increased wages that the railroad commission should grant a favorable decision. The report declares that "the company only demanded that a decision be rendered so that, if unfavorable, it might appeal to the courts for a review." The report holds that the construction of the Wisconsin railroad commission with reference to its duty to pass on wages as a factor in the administration of the law, "as a condition precedent to the payment thereof" is too narrow.

"It is the opinion of the committee," continues the report, "that the railroad commission takes too narrow construction of the law and that it has the power to consider wages the same as it has the power to consider any other factor in ordering service." "In other words," the commission should have full and comprehensive administrative jurisdiction to keep the wheels

Five British Aviators Are Burned to Death

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Andover, Eng., April 22.—Five members of the crew of a big Handley-Page airplane were burned to death today when the machine crashed to the earth in an accident at Neyhill, near here. Two others in the machine were injured.
All the occupants of the machine were army officers including a major, a captain and two lieutenants. The machine on starting struck a telegraph pole. The under-carriage broke off and the machine fell on the roof of a hut used for sleeping purposes. The gasoline tank caught fire and the machine burned so quickly that it was impossible to reach the imprisoned crew. A lieutenant and a sergeant managed to extricate themselves but were burned severely.

Arrangement of Leases.
Leases generally run by seven years or a multiple of seven. The seventh and ninth years, with the multiple of 8, 5, 7, 9, were supposed to be climatical, when life was in special peril.

WHO'S WHO in the Day's News

MARSHALL FIELD III.
Out of the service away from the army for nearly a month, Capt. Marshall Field III has voluntarily gone back into business. He has become associated with Dudley Walker in the management of the federal employment bureau at Chicago for returned soldiers, sailors and marines, and will remain here until

FRENCH DECORATE CATHOLIC BISHOP

Bishop Thomas J. Shahan.

The French government has made Bishop Thomas J. Shahan, rector of the Catholic University of America, a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. The honor was conferred upon the bishop for his splendid work in the cause of humanity during the war. The decoration was presented to him by Edouard de Billy, deputy French high commissioner to the United States.

voted principally to securing places in civil life for men of the Prairie division. He enlisted as a private in the One Hundred and Twenty-second Field artillery, Col. William J. Foreman's unit, and was advanced rapidly to the rank of captain.
Capt. Field is the grandson of the late Marshall Field, the great Chicago merchant. He is a millionaire in his own right and was one of the first young millionaires to enter the United States army. He did not seek a commission before entering the service, preferring to take his chances with the men in the ranks.

"OUT TO LUNCH."
We often wonder if people do anything else these days than eat.
We have been trying to get a certain man on the phone for three months and nine times he has been "in conference" and twenty-seven times "out to lunch."
He has been "out to lunch" at 10 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, being a man, we take it with a ninety horsepower appetite. Finally, we evolved a beautiful plan. It so happened that we knew the janitor of the building in which this hardy trencherman has his office. We decided to find out at once whether this man was putting one over on us. We would ask friend Janitor.

Brushing over with excitement, we called the switchboard in the building at 3 o'clock one afternoon and asked for the janitor.
"Sorry," said the girl, "but the janitor is out to lunch."

Eels for Canning.
Canned and oiled eels are new enterprises talked of in Japanese fishing circles, as these fish are found almost everywhere along the coast. At present only a limited amount of each year's catch is eaten, by far the larger proportion being used for fertilizer.

Camel Cigarettes

They Win You On Quality!

Your enjoyment of Camels will be very great because their refreshing flavor and fragrance and mellowness is so enticingly different. You never tasted such a cigarette! Bite is eliminated and there is a cheerful absence of any unpleasant cigarette after-taste or any unpleasant cigarette odor!

Camels are made of an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos and are smooth and mild, but have that desirable full-body and certainly hand out satisfaction in generous measure. You will prefer this Camel blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight!

Give Camels the stiffest tryout, then compare them with any cigarette in the world at any price for quality, flavor, satisfaction. No matter how liberally you smoke Camels they will not tire your taste!

R. J. REYNOLDS TOBACCO CO.
Winston-Salem, N. C.

18 cents a package

Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

The Country that cleans up its War Cost first will have the jump on the World's Business.

The wheels of commerce can't turn freely while clogged with debt. A nation itself cannot seek the business of the world until it meets its own obligations.

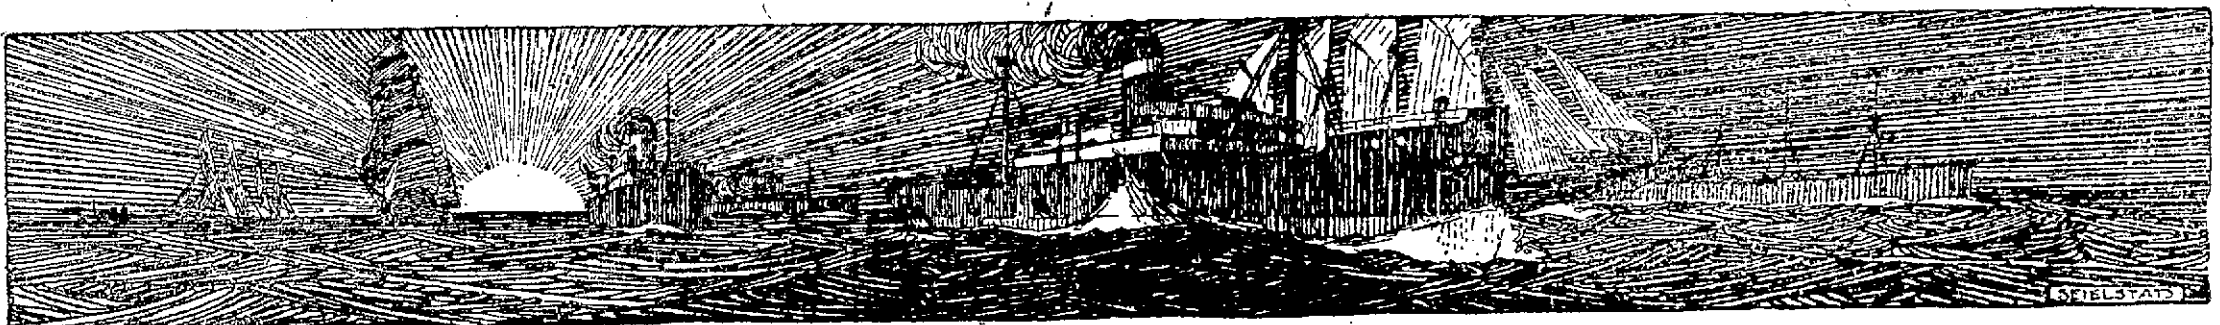

In the race for world prosperity, the country that is unhampered by the dead-weight of unpaid millions will be the nation first to reach the goal of commercial domination.

The Victory Liberty Loan will wipe the slate clean—will put America on her toes, unhandicapped—will insure prosperity for all businesses.

But, to do this, the Loan must be floated!
